RUSSIA-BACKED REDS SWAMPED IN GREEK VOTE

By The Associated Press

ATHENS, April 1—Leaders of the Conservative Populist party claimed a victory today in Greece's Sunday elections and declared the size of the vote was an overwhelming defeat for Russia-backed Communists and other left-wing parties who had waged a campaign for the voters to stay away from the polls.

The election possibly paved the way for the eventual return to the throne of King George II.

Constantin Tsaldaris, chief of the Royalist division of the Populists, said "as a result of the majority with which the Populists carried the election it (the party) will undertake to regulate the political situation with full respect to the expressed popular will and will be guided by national interests."

To Form New Cabinet

Regent Archbishop Damaskinos agreed with a suggestion of Premier Sophoulis, who tendered his resignation, to consult the executive committee of the Populist party, on formation of a new government. Tsaldaris said the party would not insist upon having its own man as premier, however, and indicated a broadened coalition government might be organized.

The press ministry announced that out of 273,855 votes cast in 499 precincts in different parts of Greece, the Populists received 138,137 votes; the national bloc—a coalition of National Unionists, Social Democrats and Venizelist liberals — 67,578 votes, and the middle-of-the-road liberals 49,790 votes.

MARION VICTORY IN BASEBALL RACE SEEN

With a total of 9,322 tickets sold, Marion was virtually assured of first place in the baseball advance ticket sale, according to a report from Ohio State league president, Frank M. Colley at Columbus. The contest ended at noon today. Newark with a total of 2,400 tickets was the only town other than Marion officially heard from but Colley said from advance reports, Dayton, Marion's only rival, would not touch that figure.

Baseball Commissioner A. B. "Happy" Chandler and Gov. Frank J. Lausche will attend the opening day game April 30 of the city selling the most advance tickets. None of the other three towns involved, Dayton, Newark and Middletown, have shown anything like the interest evidenced by the local club under the presidency of Judge W. Dexter Hazen, Colley said.

TRANSPORT WALKOUT CRIPPLES DETROIT

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, April 1—A tie-up of Detroit's municipally - owned transportation system in a wage dispute forced hundreds of thousands of workers and others to seek private transportation or walk to work today. The system's daily load has been estimated at 1,300,000 fares.

Anticipating the strike, most of the city's workers were able to arrange transportation in advance.

The Ford Motor Co. reported about 13 per cent of the employes at its Big Rouge plant absent compared with a normal Monday absenteeism of six to seven per cent. Chrysler Corp. estimated absenteeism among its 65,000 Detroit area workers at 15 per cent.

Mayor Edward J. Jeffries and other city officials met briefly with union leaders this morning and arranged another afternoon conference. A meeting of the workers also has been set for this

Death Ends Colorful Career of Ohio's Ex-Governor Davey

By The Associated Press

KENT, O., April 1—Martin Luther Davey, 61, whose two terms as governor of Ohio from 1935 to 1939 were among the most colorful and controversial in state history, died of a heart attack at his home early Sunday.

A business man who built up his father's tree surgery business to a nationwide organization of some 1,000 employes, Davey began his Democratic political career as a "boy mayor" of his home town in 1913, when he was 28.

He served in congress four times, representing the 14th Ohio district, and capped his political career as governor. His administration was marked by three investigations, a feud with the national administration over relief funds, and two occasions on which he called out the Ohio National Guard.

MARTIN L. DAVEY

In his public appearances a man who was always dapper and dramatic, Davey often made political capital of controversy, as when the legislature turned down his request for $1,000 to buy new rugs for his office. He stumped the state, flinging sharp remarks about the legislature right and left, and collected "rug fund" contributions of more than enough to pay the bill.

Last Fling in 1944

He last was in the public eye in the fall of 1944, when he issued a public letter and pamphlet defending the financial condition of the state at the time John W. Bricker succeeded him as governor. Referring then to an attack of coronary thrombosis he had suffered in 1941, he declared it was not likely he ever again would be a political candidate.

Davey entered office as governor with the remark that he had left his million-dollar tree surgery busniess for the helm of the state because "I get a thrill out of it, just as he thrilled to a game of bridge.

And it was at the end of a game of bridge that his death came. He had been entertaining a bridge club at his West Main street home and was going over his scores when he was stricken with a coronary embolism which brought death quickly, reported his physician, Dr. S. A. Brown.

Funeral Wednesday

The body was taken to the Bissler funeral home, where services will be held at 2 p. m. Wednesday. The Rev. Dana MacDonald, pastor of First Christian church, where the former governor had been a member since boyhood, will officiate.

Burial will be in the family plot at Standing Rock Cemetery, with eight directors of the Davey Tree Experts Co. as pallbearers.

Davey, besides heading the tree surgery firm, was an official of the Davey Compressor Co., of which his brother Paul is president.

The former governor is survived by his widow, Bernice; a son, Martin L. Jr., a daughter, Mrs. Evangeline Smith of Kent; three brothers, Paul of Kent, Wellington of San Francisco and James of Fletcher, N. C., and a sister, Mrs. Harmon L. Carson of Kent.

He was an active supporter of Kent State university, headed an investment company bearing his name, and belonged to several fraternal orders.

Cleaned Up Pen

Early in Davey's first term as governor he called out the National Guard to evict Warden Preston T. Thomas as part of a clean-up of the state's penal system, which also involved dismissal of several other prison officials.

A few months later he became involved in a row with the late Harry L. Hopkins, then federal relief administrator. Hopkins claimed Davey workers had coerced funds from persons selling relief supplies, and as a result Hopkins took over supervision of federal relief funds in Ohio. Davey charged Hopkins with criminal

U. S. Agents Say Big Roundup "Only the Beginning" in German Purge.

(More about plot on page 9)

By The Associated Press

FRANKFURT, Germany 1—American intelligence officers said today that several Nazi subversive movements still were plotting against the Allies in Germany and that Sunday's roundup of nearly 1,000 Hitler youth conspirators was "only the beginning."

The officers said counter-espionage agents were working "day and night" to break up the last vestiges of Nazi resistance which came into the open with the week-end sweep on followers of captured Arthur Axmann, former head of the Hitler youth movement.

The operation against the Axmann group is still going on, it was said, although only remnants of the group remain.

About 20 per cent of the target suspects in the week-end round-up had left or fled their addresses when the agents struck, however.

No casualties were reported among the 7,000 Allied combat troops and counter - espionage agents who participated in the raids.

Gunfire was reported to have broken out in several of the 200 towns raided in western Germany and Austria, but American intelligence officers said they had received no word of any casualties.

Intelligence officers still declined to give details of the capture last December of Arthur Axmann, 32, one-armed former Nazi youth fuehrer, who has been identified as the leader of the movement aimed at reestablishing Nazism

Dinner Here Tuesday To Open Drive for Fight On Cancer

The Marion Junior Chamber of Commerce will open its drive to raise $25,000 during April for the American Cancer society with a banquet Tuesday at 6:30 p. m. at Hotel Harding.

Principal speaker will be Don H. Ebright, state treasurer and state chairman for the society. Radio station WMRN will carry his address at 8 p. m.

Mayor Harry L. Dowler has issued a proclamation designating April as "cancer control" month in Marion and has urged individuals and agencies to cooperate with the drive.

Committee Sets Goal

In a special meeting of committee chairman Sunday, it was decided that if the goal of $25,000 is reached it will be possible to purchase a supply of radium for Marion City hospital to be used for its cancer clinic in treating the disease. There is no supply of radium in Marion at present and it must be rented at considerable cost to the patient. If the supply is secured, it will be available to all persons without cost, according to Robert Solinger, chairman of the drive.

Appearing before committee members Sunday was Dr. A. E. Morrison, Marion physician, who pointed out that "cancer is not just a local problem. It requires funds for wide research," he said. The local drive is part of a nationwide campaign to secure funds to provide medical research in treatment of cancer.

Division of Funds

Distribution of the funds will be as follows: 40 per cent will go to the national society, 10 per cent will go to the state society and the remaining 50 per cent will be spent in Marion.

The fifty per cent retained here will be used by the local cancer society to maintain and enlarge the activity of the cancer clinic at City hospital, furnish educational material to industry, the medical profession and all persons interested without cost, and if

HOPES FOR UNO RISE AS RUSSIA PAYS HER DUES

First Major Power To Make Full Payment; Other Good Signs Are Seen.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 1—Russia's payment in full of her dues in the United Nations gave a boost today to hopes that the security council will soon be running on a full team basis.

It has been one man short since Wednesday when Russian Delegate Andrei Gromyko walked out in protest against the council's refusal to defer the Iranian question until April 10.

Members of the other 10 delegations could count three developments in favor of their hope that Russia might end what one official called a "temporary absence," and resume its place on the council when that body reconvenes Wednesday. These were:

1. The news from Moscow, released here by Secretary-General Trygve Lie, that Russia had paid in full her $1,723,000 assessment for the United Nations working capital. She was the first big power to do so.

2. Boris Stein, alternate Russian delegate, has been working steadily—and most congenially, other members said—on the council committee which is drafting rules for the conduct of business.

3. Similarly, the Russians have taken part in meetings of the military staff committee which is working on preliminary plans for an international force to keep the peace.

There is still the fact that Moscow, and Tehran, have not replied yet to the council's request of last Friday for clarification of the Iranian occupation matter. The deadline is Wednesday.

Three small nations are the only ones beside Russia to have paid in full their share of the United Nations' working capital. They are Belgium with $332,750, The Netherlands with $357,000 and Norway with $169,000.

The United States was assessed $6,153,000 of which it has paid $500,000. Britain has paid $300,000 of her $3,692,750 assessment.

Russian Leaders Stress UNO Faith

By EDDIE GILMORE

MOSCOW, April 1—Russia's emphatic intention to remain a working partner in the United Nations with no thought of withdrawing is being reaffirmed in many quarters in Moscow every day.

Two foreign representatives in responsible diplomatic posts said today they had received strong though unofficial reassurances within the last three days. Soviet spokesmen, press commentators and lecturers are taking a strong line on this question, generally basing their conclusions on Prime Minister Stalin's recent answers to this correspondent.

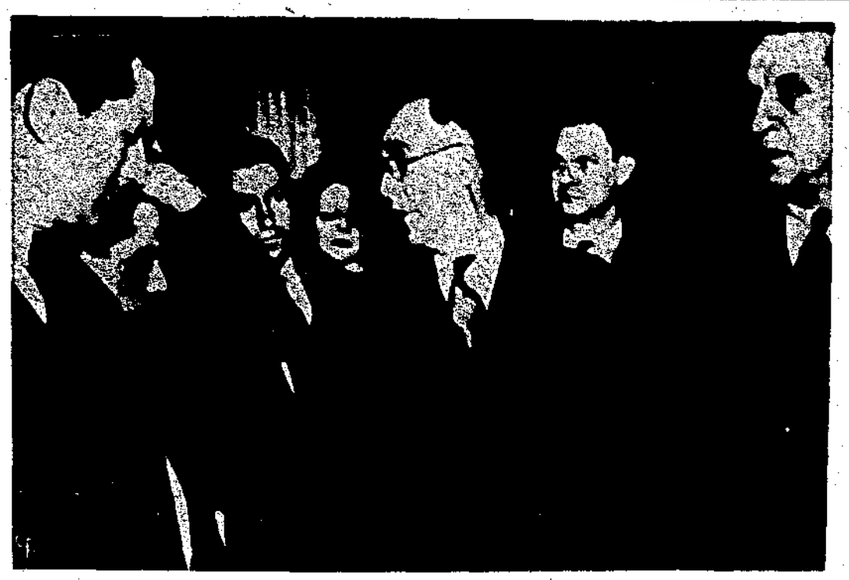
Ohio Unionists "Bury" Company Wage Offer

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, April 1—On this April Fool's day, striking employes of the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co.'s Cleveland plant ceremoniously buried a company offer in reply to their wage demands.

A procession of some 50 CIO United Electrical Workers unionists, with mock funeral mien and led by two frock-coated, top-hatted members, took a papier-mache casket containing the company wage proposal to a plot in Edgewater park, across the street from the idle factory.

There, as the procession laid to rest what it termed "Mr. Westinghouse's Offer," City Councilman Richard E. Masterson said over a public address system he was "left speechless by the depressing ceremony."



LABOR SECRETARY TALKS OVER COAL STRIKE WITH NEWSMEN. After Secretary of Labor Lewis B. Schwellenbach conferred with Miners President John L. Lewis in an effort to forestall the coal strike of 400,000 bituminous miners he talked things over with reporters. The labor secretary is shown (center) giving details of the conference.

NO COAL PICKETS. John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, tells reporters that coal mines will not be picketed in miners strike. He also told newsmen that "not a comma or a semi-colon of a new mine contract has been written."

Administrator Maps OPA Rescue Campaign

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 1—Administration leaders in the house worked behind the scenes today in an effort to save OPA from crippling cuts in its powers.

Their effort is based on the belief that the agency is certain to be shorn of some authority in legislation now being written to extend price conrols beyond June 30.

What the leaders fear is that the trimming may get out of hand if very much of it is done on the house floor.

Hence they hope some sort of compromise can be agreed upon which will be acceptable to the banking committee. That group began closed sessions today in an effort to draft a bill.

Voter Registration Total Now 16,321

Saturday was another big day at the Marion county board of elections.

Registrations for the day totaled 52 and transfers 29. Total registrations now stand at 16,321. With the deadline for registering only one week away, election officials expect this week to boost the total near the 1940 figure of 18,000.

Many veterans are among those checking their voting status at the election board office.

Register To Vote in May Primaries

If you fall into one of these classifications you must register with the board of election by April 8 to be eligible to vote in the May 7 primaries:

1. If you will be 21 years old before the general election.

2. If you have failed to vote in any election within the last two years.

3. If you have moved here from other towns and have resided here 30 days prior to the election. If you have moved from one precinct to another you must transfer but need not reregister.

4. If you have changed your name through marriage or for any other reason.

Mrs. Askew, who has been making her home with her parents, sister and two brothers since her discharge from the British Auxiliary Territorial Service, praised the food she shared on the ship and expressed the opinion that it would not take her long to become acquainted with American ways.

Mr. and Mrs. Askew were married near London Aug. 8, 1944. Mr. Askew, a former sergeant in the Army Air Corps, received his discharge in January after 27 months of service in England and the European theater of operations. Reece and Danaher In Race for Chairmanship of National Party

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 1—Rep. Carroll Reece of Tennessee and former Senator John A. Danaher of Connecticut headed into a wide open race today for the Republican national chairmanship.

Overnight conferences of party leaders failed to develop enough sentiment for any single candidate to preclude an expected floor battle over the position being vacated by Herbert Brownell Jr. The New Yorker has led the Republican organization since Gov. Thomas E. Dewey was nominated for president in 1944.

As a prelude to today's meeting of the 106-member national committee, a party policy subcommittee last night released the text of a suggested resolution deploring "the incoherence and inefficiency of administration handling of foreign affairs."

The proposed resolution called for a reorganization of the state department and the employment only of persons "loyal to the American government."

As the chairmanship battle headed into the home stretch backers of both Reece, 58, and Danaher, 47, voiced confidence of victory.

Brownell called the full committee together in a formal session this morning to be followed by a luncheon at which Senator Gurney of South Dakota and Rep. Halleck of Indiana were listed as speakers. Election of new chairman to succeed Brownell was scheduled at an afternoon session.

In his final report prepared for the committee, Brownell keynoted a party attack on the administration by asserting that President Truman "is the weakest president since Pierce."

Brownell urged the Republicans to increase their efforts among Negro voters, asserting that Negroes have a powerful influence on results in 13 states. He listed these as Pennsylvania, Illinois, New York, Kentucky, Maryland, Ohio, California, Michigan, New Jersey, Missouri, Tennessee, Indiana and West Virginia.

400,000 BEGIN MINE WALKOUT; RATIONING SET

President To Leave Stoppage Up To Labor Secretary; Industry Worried.

By The Associated Press

The White House said today that President Truman has no plans for intervention in the bituminous coal mining stoppage which began at midnight.

Press Secretary Charles G. Ross, asked at a news conference if the President will do anything about the walkout, replied:

"That is in the hands of the secretary of labor."

The work stoppage by the nation's soft coal miners, backing up the traditional "no contract, no work" policy of the AFL-United Mine Workers, began for 400,000 workers whose collective bargaining contract expired at midnight.

President John L. Lewis of the union said there would be no picketing.

Rationing of coal was started on government orders to insure supplies for urgent uses.

The stoppage in production threatened to disrupt the country's reconversion program.

Today's Holiday

The beginning of the work stoppage found members of the union ready for their annual April 1 holiday to commemorate the 44th anniversary of the eight-hour day. Actually, effects of the strike will not be felt until tomorrow.

Lewis' principal demand from the coal industry is establishment of a health and welfare fund for miners, to be created from an assessment of 10 cents on each ton of coal produced and to be administered by the union. The operators balked.

The National Coal association said such "a royalty payment levied for the benefit of the union" would make Lewis "a dictator more powerful than any America has ever known."

Operators estimated Lewis' assessment would net him $57,500,000 on the basis of last year's production.

Hope was held out that the stoppage would be brief. Operators and union representatives remained in Washington to continue negotiations. Secretary Schwellenbach named Paul Fuller of Akron, O., as a special conciliator in the rubber industry.

Steel Shutdown Seen

PPresident J. L. Perry of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp. announced 20 of the corporation's 32 blast furnaces in the Pittsburgh area faced the necessity of banking "almost immediately."

"Steelworkers have lost considerable time since Jan. 21, the date of the steel strike; and further suspension of operations at this time would impose an additional hardship on steel employes and the economy in this area," Perry said.

Estimates of coal stocks on hand in the steel and some other industries ranged from piles that would last from two to eight weeks if current operations were continued.

Automobile spokesmen said a stoppage in coal would not be felt immediately, but a shutdown in steel would affect auto production "within a relatively few days."

A representative of the New York Central estimated most rails

Coal, Bus Walkouts Hit Ohio, Shutdown Voted at Columbus

By The Associated Press

Ohio's coal mines were idle today in a labor controversy. So were Akron's buses and trackless trollers.

Both work stoppages became effective last midnight.

Some 20,000 bituminous coal miners in Ohio and West Virginia were involved in the annual nation-wide work stoppage. The United Mine Workers chieftain, John L. Lewis, said it wasn't a strike. He said the UMW's contract with mine operators had expired and his miners wouldn't work without a contract.

Wages were not involved, Lewis, in current negotiations with operators, refused to discuss any other phases of a contract until the industry agreed to pay an assessment on each ton of coal mined to establish a health and welfare fund for his miners. The National coal association refused, saying such a "royalty payment" would make Lewis "a dictator more powerful than any America has ever known."

No Picket Lines

It was a complete vacation for the miners. There were no picket lines, and Lewis said there would be none.

Today's stoppage marked the fourth straight year miners have refused to enter the pits after contract negotiations failed by the April 1 expiration date.

UMW officials estimated a 28-day supply of 48,000,000 tons is above the ground. They said Ohio consumes 83,000,000 tons and produces 33,000,000 tons annually.

Expiration of a contract also was the signal for Akron's transportation strike, which left the city's 300,000 with only makeshift transportation today.

Some 450 bus and trolley operators, members of the CIO Transport Workers union, struck after last-minute negotiations with Akron Transportation Co. [illegible] without agreement [illegible] "Cent[illegible]

Jap Women Dig Into Politics, Worry About Babies at Polls

By The Associated Press

TOKYO, April 1—"May I go to the polls with my baby on my back

That's a question women repeatedly ask of Wac Lt Ethel Weed of Cleveland O., who has been telling them about exercising their new franchise at the April 10 election

Other questions frequently put to Lieutenant Weed, head of the women's subsection of civil information and education section of Allied headquarters, include

What happens in America when the man of a family votes one way and the woman another?

How do girls in the United States learn about politics?

What do men think about women who become active in politics?

Lieutenant Weed said the kimonoed Japanese women were emerging from their homes in increasing numbers to attend meetings on suffrage and politics

One woman leader in a mountain village got 38 women out of 38 homes to attend a political meeting.

Another gets them out by advertising meetings on such subjects as "How To Make Soy Beans Palatable" or "How To Make Over a Kimono" They are told about the election and their first opportunity to vote as well as given household hints

Lieutenant Weed cited a report of Kyodo news agency that 83 women were running for the diet, among them teachers, housewives, writers, farm women, a doctor, a poet, a painter, two Buddhist nuns midwives, and social workers She said the youngest was 28, the eldest 66. Thirty-two are college graduates.

Japanese women dislike organization "since it still means to them the kind of organization they knew during the war years, when everything was organized from the top down," the Wac officer said "But they finally are becoming conscious that by organizing together they can influence the government"

TOIL CONSERVATION
• Toil conservation, saving time and effort, has reached its greatest importance to the farmer today. This is why so many farmers have come to regard telephone service as a necessity to their daily work. They know that they can get business done in a few seconds by telephone that would otherwise take them hours of time and effort. We know that the farmer will find postwar improved rural telephone service an even greater instrument of toil conservation.

TRAINING SCHOOL WORK PROGRESSING

Standard Oil Classes Expected To Start in Week.

At its present building schedule as maintained this week, the Standard Oil Co. will open its service training school at Center and Leader streets next Monday, according to an announcement today by C. M. Gorby, school training supervisor.

Mr. Gorby said the school building was complete, with the exception of interior painting and he hopes to start first classes next Monday. The first class will include seven service center managers from the Marion district. A second class of seven is planned to open the following week.

Three company representatives will assist Mr. Gorby in directing the school. They are W. J. Merchant, driveway assistant; R. R. Briggs, lubritorium assistant and E. A. Donaugh, training station manager.

The school includes a laboratory and class rooms, a lubritorium, and latest equipment in service station maintenance. It will take each class two weeks to complete the course, during which time the men will be given instruction in service, installation and repair of automobiles. Other counties included in the Marion district are Delaware, Union, Hardin, Wyandot, Crawford and Seneca.

Purpose of the school is to give new men training that will make them more efficient in their jobs, Mr. Gorby said.

Periwigs, first mentioned in England in the 16th Century, are still worn in court by English judges and barristers.

Army To Seek Top Air Speed in Test of Pilotless P-80

By The Associated Press

DAYTON, O., April 1—A pilotless remotely-controlled Lockheed P-80 will be given a series of power dive tests at Muroc Army Air Field, Calif., this summer to prove the maximum speed at which the jet-propelled plane can be flown safely, headquarters of the Army's Air Material Command at nearby Wright Field announced today.

"By using a pilotless P-80 remotely controlled from the cockpit of a 'mother' P-80, and thus eliminating danger to the pilot, the plane can be put through paces never before attempted," said Maj. Gen. B. W. Cildaw, AMC deputy commanding general.

Besides proving the P-80's maximum speed, he added, "the resultant information will be of use in the design of future high speed planes."

AMC reported the tests were planned for May or June.

A ground control unit, located in a truck, also will be used in the tests. This unit will control landings and take-offs and by means of a television set, which will show the pilotless plane's instrument panel, the ground engineer can inform the pilot of the "mother" ship on the exact technical operation of the robot.

Nazi Subversive Plotting Is Seen As Grim Warning

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The Nazi underground plot to revive Hitlerism in Germany, disclosed during the week-end, is grim warning to those who would relax the military occupation that the Allied task of reformation is far from finished.

It's highly significant that this revolt centered in the Hitler youth movement, for that remains the core of the resistance to Allied authority. Within the age range of from 14 to 35 you will find the majority of those whom Hitler was able to hypnotize with his poisonous doctrine.

DewittMackenzie

These young people—the most vital element in the Reich—are so thoroughly Hitlerized that there appears to be small hope of persuading many of them to a change of heart. They can be kept in hand only by force, for force is their god.

Aim at Youngsters

But the thing cuts deeper than that. Since this age group is largely lost to the Allies, the most effective educational reform must be made among the younger boys and girls—the sprouting generation.

However, the occupation authorities are up against a great handicap because, while the children are friendly enough and are receptive to the proper training in their schools, they have to be sent home to parents who belong to the Hitlerized group.

So much for this dangerous Hitler youth movement, but it would be a mistake to think that this is the sole source of support for the revival of Nazism. The Prussian militarists, whose only interest in Hitlerism was that it fitted in with their schemes for expansion of the Reich by by conquest, will do their utmost to unhorse the Allies.

Trials Give Clue

Apropos of this, when I was at the war crimes trials at Nuernburg a short time ago I reported to you that the defense of former Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering and some other prominent figures was directed fully as much towards whitewashing the Hitler regime as towards securing acquittal for those in the dock.

In fact it strikes me that Goering is quite resigned to conviction and is devoting his energy towards vindicating his government and thereby providing propaganda for a restoration.

"They encourage disunity in our land and by doing that encourage Russia," said McCafferty.

The Ohio department of the group re-elected Daniel J. Herlihy as commander.

OHIO STRIKES

Lausche Takes Hand

Gov. Frank J. Lausche, attempting to avert the tieup, persuaded the union to call a meeting of members today.

William H. Wright, union president, said the company made only one offer—a six cents an hour pay boost—during 30 days of negotiations. The union first asked 32 cents an hour and later reduced it to 16 cents. They also seek a work week reduction from 51 to 42 hours. Present wage is 98 cents an hour for all but beginners, Wright said.

One of the city's leading rubber companies, the B. F. Goodrich Co., attempted to work out a share-the-ride plan to get its thousands of employes to and from work. Other citizens shifted for themselves, but they had experience to aid them. Transit workers engaged in two strikes in 1943.

A strike that would shut off water and lights threatened Ohio's capital. Employes of the Columbus municipal water, light and sewage disposal plants voted over the week-end to begin a work holiday April 8 in support of wage demands.

Some 500 employes, represented by three AFL unions, are seeking 15 to 25 per cent wage boosts which the city council previously turned down.

Two Due to Return

Employes of two Ohio concerns were scheduled to return to work today, ending strikes.

At Cleveland, 1,700 production employes of the Chase Brass & Copper Co. were scheduled to go back to work under an agreement calling for 18½ cents an hour raises, terminating a three-week stoppage.

Some 1,500 workers began returning to their jobs at the Lunkenheimer Co., Cincinnati, halting a strike that began Jan. 21 with the nation-wide steel walkout. An agreement reached Saturday between the company and the CIO-United Steelworkers of America union provides 18½ cents an hour wage increase with an additional 1½ cents to be added in July.

"Bob" Shear Folly, Say Stars

By ROSALIND SHAFFER
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD, April 1—What is Hollywood going to do about the short hair craze? The film colony, always first with the latest, is in a quandary.

Perhaps because of the regimented wear of women in war work and the armed forces for the first time, the present period has brought total reversion from masculine style toward the ultra-feminine figure exemplified by the Jane Russells and the Lana Turners. Since the rescinding of wartime restrictions, fashions are showing a still more decided feminine trend with longer, fuller skirts, drapes, drop shoulders, tiny waists and padded hips. Just what, then, is the place of the short bob in this scene?

Studio hair stylists are almost of one mind. Hazel Rogers, RKO hair stylist, says emphatically:

"In a practical way Hollywood actresses can't wear short bobs. The short bob does not admit the variety in styling necessary for an actress's roles. Wigs are hot and uncomfortable and do not film well. We are making many period pictures now and we have to have hair to work with."

Too Much Similarity

Another stylist, Helen Hunt, of Columbia, says:

"All women look alike in a short bob; it isn't possible to tell the full beauty of a woman's hair unless it's long."

Sidney Guillaroff at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer isn't sold on short hair either. He designed a short hairdo for Lana Turner for a recent picture but already Lana is letting it grow because it isn't adaptable.

"It simply isn't practical for picture stars," says Guillaroff, "and as a matter of fact, it is becoming to very few women."

Ray Driscoll, International Pictures clothes designer, declares:

"Short hair does nothing for a woman's looks. Hair should make a lovely frame for the face and the short bob does nothing for it."

Most of the individual stars are against short hair. Academy award winner, Joan Crawford, who has set hair and clothes styles for years, says:

"The most important influence in clothes today is the Victorian influence, and certainly a short bob doesn't fit into that picture."

They're Against It

Bette Davis and Ann Sheridan both protest that they will not wear a short bob, as that would require wearing wigs under the hot lights. When a photographer attempted to make a layout on short bobs at Warner Brothers recently, a model had to be hired because no Warner star has bobbed hair.

Jeanne Crain was asked recently to do a short-haired role and she refused to cut even one inch. Maureen O'Hara's long red hair is the color camera's delight. She wouldn't dream of cutting it, she says.

Gene Tierney says she thinks long hair is more womanly and elegant. Recently she consented to a slightly shorter bob for a film role, which she wore fluffed out about her face. Linda Darnell says that hair worn long and down provides a greater display than either a short bob cut or an updo. Rita Hayworth's beautiful long hair is part of her stock in trade and she has no intention of cutting it. Loretta Young says that a woman can't feel beautiful in short hair.

Three Keep It Short

There are three standouts in the film colony who have worn their hair short all through the up-sweep and chignon rage. They are Claudette Colbert, Martha Hunt and Laraine Day. The feather cut and bangs of Claudette and the graceful bobs of Marsha and Laraine are particularly becoming to these girls. After all, the entertainment business is one in which individuality is at a premium and it's a wise girl who knows her type and sticks with it.

Veterans Showing Little Interest In Trailer Camp Plan

Only 12 Marion war veterans have expressed an interest in obtaining living quarters in the proposed trailer camp at Lincoln park.

Mrs. Eliza Young, head of the veteran's information service, late last week conducted a poll to determine the number of veterans interested in the camp. She reported to Chamber of Commerce and Marion city officials today that 12 responses had been received. The poll is continuing today and tomorrow and interested veterans are asked to contact Mrs. Young at the information center in The Star building immediately.

In view of the limited number of responses, city and Chamber of Commerce officials today sent a request to the Cleveland district office of the federal Public housing authority to send a representative here to resurvey the Marion situation.

The local interests will ask advice as to whether it is feasible to continue with plans for a 50-trailer camp, the number of living units allotted Marion for the project. Decision to ask FPHA for additional information was reached at a conference this morning of city and Chamber of Commerce officials.

roads have a month's supply of coal.

Ohio On List

Principally affected are the pivotal coal producing states of Pennsylvania and West Virginia, employing one-half of the nation's soft coal miners. Other producing states are Ohio, Illinois, Kentucky, Indiana, Alabama and Virginia.

The industry offered to raise miners' pay about 18½ cents an hour. Operators, in reply to Lewis' demand for a welfare fund, proposed a joint study by the UMW and the industry of plans to create a fund to care for hardships resulting from mine accidents, and also suggested the union administer funds collected from miners for medical and benefit purposes in cases where UMW locals are dissatisfied.

Mine-Owning Miners Strike at Selves

By The Associated Press

CENTRALIA, Ill., April 1—Contrary to the general break between 400,000 AFL United Mine Workers and operators, the diggers at the nearby Glenridge colliery have walked out on themselves—and, says Mine Superintendent Bert Jolliff, "They like it."

The reason for this oddity in labor walkout is that 120 of the 160 miners own their own operating company, the Marion County Coal Mining Corp.

Superintendent Jolliff said today:

"The miners here are doing nothing but fishing and making gardens right now. The older fellows are all just resting.

"I have asked permission from the national (United Mine Workers) headquarters for the miners to return to work. We want to develop some new territory and would like to get on with it."

Three Foxes Killed In School Area Hunt

Three foxes were killed in a fox hunt in the Campbell school area Saturday, O. H. Niemeyer, Marion county game protector, reported.

Several other foxes got away, the game protector said. Five drives were held during the hunt and nearly 100 farmers and sportsmen participated. Hunters also were looking for a coyote reported to have done considerable damage to poultry and small livestock in the Campbell school area, but no trace of the animal was seen.

CONCERT GIVEN AT RICHWOOD CHURCH

Lecture-Recital Club Chorus Appears in Program.

A concert of sacred selections and spring numbers was presented by the Marion Lecture-Recital club chorus in First Baptist church at Richwood Sunday night. Following the program, a reception was held for the chorus and guests in the church basement by the Richwood Music club which sponsored the concert there.

The service opened with organ music by Mrs. Charles Gill, church organist, Rev. Donald S. Hobbs, pastor, welcomed the guest group and conducted a short period of devotions, and Miss Lucille Smith, president of the Richwood club, extended greetings. Clara Campbell is president of the chorus group.

Soloists who assisted with the program were Mrs. Esther Hale and Mrs. Virginia Griffiths, and soloists with the chorus in two numbers were Mrs. Eleanor Smith and Mrs. Ruth Smith Shumann, a former Richwood resident. Mrs. H. K. Mouser accompanied Mrs. Hale, and Miss Rosaline Manzo, chorus accompanist, played for Mrs. Griffiths.

Under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Edgar, the chorus sang three groups of numbers including sacred, semi-sacred and secular lighter spring numbers, including Latvian and American folk music, selections of familiar and of less well known composers of church and semi-religious music, and of light operatic works. One number by Mrs. Hale was an original composition of Mrs. Mouser for words written by Mrs. Grace Coolidge. Included in the group by Mrs. Griffiths was a number in Italian.

For the reception, the refreshment table was centered with arrangements of spring flowers, and vases and baskets of flowers decorated the church sanctuary.

Programs on the Air

One of those rare instances of an actress turned author and then acting the lead in her own play is on the schedule for this week.

The actress-author is Anne Seymour and her play is "Letters from Irene," to be heard in the Carrington playhouse on MBS Thursday night as the story of a farm girl and her search for glamor in New York.

It has been only six months since Miss Seymour became an author. She decided that her experience as an actress gave her just the right background for radio writing. Apparently it has, for this will be her second drama to go on the air.

She has been a radio actress for a decade or more, switching to the microphone from Broadway. In that time she has appeared in many a nighttime drama as well as doing leads in numerous daytime serials.

Radio Man Learns Shortages No Joke

By The Associated Press

OAKLAND, Calif., April 1—Radio Announcer Jimmy Muir learned the hard way you can't kid about nylons or butter.

He jested into the mike thusly: "A leading Oakland department store will place 3,000 pairs of nylons on sale Monday morning—but as usual, there is a catch.

"You must buy 10 pounds of butter for every pair of nylons. Be sure to state the exact color of butter desired."

The station was swamped with 500 telephone calls from women wanting to know where and what time.

House Seeks Change in Lobby Inquiry

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 1—House leaders moved quietly today to alter the course of a proposed lobbying investigation threatening to become a political boomerang.

The leaders are not opposed to the investigation—in fact they inspired it—but they want it conducted by a hand-picked slate rather than by the rules committee.

That group, graveyard of many administration plans and cradle of many administration headaches, has other ideas. It wants the inquiry to be made by its own members. And it wants the scope extended to take in activities not only of professional lobby groups but also those of government agencies and officials.

The showdown may come tomorrow when the committee is scheduled to determine what form of investigation it will recommend to the house.

Irish Cagers Ranked Five Points Over Harding in Final Dunkel Ratings

By JIM DARBY

St. Mary cagers have a slight edge over Harding in final basketball ratings, according to a list released by Dick Dunkel of New York, former Marion Star sports editor and now one of the country's leading sports statisticians. The ratings are compiled on a basis of the average rating of a team's opponents and the average scoring margin a team establishes above or below its opponents.

The final rating represents the potential scoring margin that team would have over the weakest team in the state—a theoretical team with a 0.0 rating.

Irish Rate High

St. Mary's rating against such an imaginary team is 50.6, Harding's 45.6. The rating does not pretend to predict the margin between two teams scheduled to meet. The ratings were based on games played through March 23.

Top team in the state is Cleveland Benedictine with a rating of 72.3. They did not compete in post-season tournaments. Class A champs, Middletown, follow with 72.4, Farmer, class B champs are in 14th place with 60.1.

Green Camp came close to being the lowest ranked team on Dunkel's list with a rating of 1.0. However, Mesopotamia in Trumbull county won the honor with .9.

The ratings of teams of special interest to this vicinity follow:

Alger 28.5, Ashland 56.2, Ashley 38, Attica 47.1, Bellepoint 33.9, Bellville 39.9, Berlin Twp 27.3, Bexley 58.7, Broadway 48.5, Brown Twp. 27.8, Bucyrus 32.2, Bynaha 19.5, Tiffin Calvert 39.7, Canaan 26, Cardington 25.6, Carey 36.2, Centerburg 34.6, Columbus Central 52, Claridon 42.6, Tiffin Columbian 47.6, Crestline 23, Delaware Willis 39.7, Dola 39.4, Dunkirk 17.6, Akron Ellet 54.5, Forest 44.7, Galion 51.2, Green Camp 1, Harlem Twp 33.2, Hyatts 37.6, Kenton 47.9, Kirkpatrick 23.2, LaRue 16.7.

Magentic Is Tough

Lycens 42.9, McCutchenville 24.7, McGuffey 43.9, Magnetic Springs 52.9, Mansfield 55.9, Marengo 40.3, Marysville 44.1, Milford Center 30, Morral 22.8, Mt. Gilead 34.7, Nevada 22.5, New Bloomington 29.4, Orange 23.9, Ostrander 36, Plain City 42.9, Powell 28.4, Radnor 24.8, Richwood 38.2, Ridgeway 31.4.

Columbus Rosary 41.8, Roundhead 18.7, Lima St. Gerard 14.2, Lima St. John's 38.4, Columbus St. Mary 35.2, Delaware St. Mary 16.7, Lima St. Rose 42.2, Fostoria St. Wendelin 23.2, Salem 36.7, Shelby 49, Lima South 47.5, Sparta 32.8, Sunbury 22.8, Sycamore 35.7, Upper Sandusky 47.1.

The Dunkel ratings are put out for the Coca-Cola Co. sponsors by Symphonic Sports Institute, Ltd., of New York and ship many teams apparently without reason; for instance, Pleasant Township, Caledonia and Prospect.

That these ratings, as their originator says, cannot be used to forecast scores becomes evident when a "forecast" based on the ratings is made of past games. In the Mid-State league, for example, Marysville finished first, was rated 6.5 below second place St. Mary's. Harding is rated 12.8 points under Columbus North, yet when the two met in the first game of the district class A tournament the Pirates led North all the way into the final minutes and lost by only five points.

The strange case of LaRue, however, leads the list of odd ones. Rated inferior to Mt. Victory, Marral, Byhalia, Ridgeway and Kirkpatrick, the LaRue boys took Mt. Victory twice by a 24 point margin, whipped Morral 32 to 29, Byhalia 53 to 30, Ridgeway 36 to 31 and stopped Kirkpatrick twice by the same 45 to 26 score.

Four Major Leaguers Sign With Outlaw Mexican Loop

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer

The wealthy Pasquel brothers of Mexico, who are defying organized baseball in the United States in an effort to put their Mexican league on a big-time basis, today had four more major leaguers in the fold and observers south of the border freely predict more American players may be signed soon.

The Pasquels, who already had a dozen former big leaguers under contract, made their presence felt Saturday by signing Vernon (Junior) Stephens, star shortstop of the St. Louis Browns and American League home run king last year, for five years.

After announcing the signing of Stephens, Jorge Pasquel, president of the Mexican loop, remarked he had "another very big surprise for the boys in the United States."

It was disclosed also yesterday that three members of the New York Giants, second baseman George Hausman, first baseman Roy Zimmerman and pitcher Sal Maglie, had accepted offers from the Mexican loop. New York President Horace Stoneham, upon learning the trio had been negotiating with the Mexican circuit, which is not a member of organized baseball, dismissed them from the team.

Asserting they will receive twice as much as money as they would from the National league club, in addition to bonuses of $5,000 apiece plus $1,000 for expenses, the three players said they planned to leave for Mexico by plane at noon today. They will be distributed among the various clubs, as had been done with the other major league players.

The eight-team Mexican league now has a limit of eight foreign players to club but that figure is expected to be raised. Don Jorge last month offered three-year contracts of $360,000 to Hank Greenberg of Detroit and Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox, and a five-year contract of half a million dollars to Bobby Feller of Cleveland. These offers were refused, but Pasquel says he is confident of landing more major leaguers "within the next two weeks."

With his four brothers, Jorge virtually runs "El Beisbol" in Mexico. They are the chief backers of the Mexican circuit with a banking, ranching and export fortune of some $60,000,000.

Stephens yesterday maintained the right of "a player to go anywhere he gets the best offer," adding that he was not interested in "what they are saying in St. Louis."

His remarks came during a game before 20,000 at Vera Cruz. Stephens won the game with a ninth inning single, after fielding eight chances flawlessly and starting two double plays at short.

New Leaders Rule 2 Inter-City Classes

New leaders took over in the Class A and doubles competition as a result of the week-end's bowling in the Inter-City bowling tournament at Palace Recreation alleys.

Chris Cafe of Lorain now tops the Class A teams with 2,984. Cardina and Breit of Willoughby took the lead in the doubles with 1,244. Home Service Laundry of Lima held on to their lead in the booster team competition with 2,607 and Coss of Cambridge still tops the singles with 678.

Dom Di Maggio Battles Big Brother Joe for Spotlight

By CHIP ROYAL

AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

SARASOTA, Fla.—Will somebody please contact that big Bronx Bomber of the New York Yankees, Joe DiMaggio, and tell him that his little kid brother, Dom of the Boston Red Sox, is determined to let the baseball fans know there is more than one DiMaggio in the big leagues this season.

It seems that the baby of the famed San Francisco family (Vince is with the Pirates) doesn't like the way big brother Joe hogs the spotlight. Now don't get the little fellow wrong. He's only kidding, of course, but Dom can't see why there isn't room in the record books for more than one DiMaggio.

Little Mixup

"Take 1940, for instance, the year I broke into the big league," explains Dominic. "I led all the outfielders in assists. So what happens. When the record book comes out, it tells how Joe added my mark to his hat.

"So I kidded him about it all winter. I said, 'Youve got enough records — enough of your own feats without trying to take credit for mine. No wonder nobody knows there's another D-Maggio!'"

The brothers DiMag like to kid each other all the time.

Take the time Dom was playing in Yankee Stadium against Joe.

"I don't know why, but I played close on him. He hit a short one just back of second and I picked it up on the shoe string," smiles Joe's kid brother.

"That night when we got together, Joe said: 'You play them kind of close out there, don't you? I told him I only played them the way he hit them.

"The next day, I figured he was due for long one so I went back on him. He hit the ball about 600 miles and I just barely pulled it down in deep center. Boy, did I have fun with him after that!"

Dom reveals that once in a while the brothers advise each other on their swing and stance, but usually only jokingly.

The youngest DiMag feels he is going to have his best season, with the Red Sox if "my legs and arms hold up."

He thinks that will be the same story about most of the servicemen coming back. They'll all start off good, but may have trouble finishing, he says.

Dom Changes Stance

The little Boston centerfielder has changed his stance this season. Here's how it happened:

"I couldn't understand why I didn't hit better than in the minors, especially after that .360 year with San Francisco in 1939," says Dom.

"So while I was with the Navy in the Pacific, I thought it was a good time to experiment. I moved my left foot a little and found I could hit all pitchers harder than ever.

"I had more freedom with my hips, and could pivot easier.

"It isn't an experiment any more, I hope, for I've got to show that big brother of mine this year—and I think he's going to have a great season."

The American League's two DiMaggio brothers, Joe (left) and Dominic, get together for the first time in years. Both were in the service during the last three baseball seasons.

Reds Set Exhibition Gate Record, Head North on 15-Game Tour.

By The Associated Press

TAMPA, Fla., April 1—The Cincinnati Reds, who played before a record 23,968 fans in nine exhibition games here this spring, broke up their training camp today and moved over to Sarasota for a tune up with the Boston Red Sox, who scored a 3-0 win yesterday as the two teams opened a 15-game northbound series which will wind up April 9 in Lexington, Ky.

In announcing the gate figure, Club Secretary Gabe Paul said it represented "by far the biggest spring training attendance since we have trained here." In addition, he reported, 3,500 servicemen were admitted free.

A crowd of 4,022 sat in yesterday while the Reds assorted their second whitewashing of the Grapefruit season as Jim Bagby and Broadway Wagner held them to four singles and a double by Dain Clay.

Clyde Shoun fanned slugger Ted Williams with two outs and a mate aboard in the ninth, and Williams said:

"He showed me the best fast ball I've looked at in years. He doesn't have much of a curve but he can throw as hard as Feller. I'm glad he isn't in our league."

Cards Set Record

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—The St. Louis Cardinals made a box office check today and found a new record attendance of 51,753 customers paid to see the sports exhibition games played here by the Red Birds and the New York Yankees. The old record was 47,835.

Dodgers Lose 4 Stars

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla.—The Brooklyn Dodgers now have Pee Wee Reiser, Cookie Lavagetto, Augie Galan and Billy Herman out of commission and none may be able to appear in the season's opening game. Reiser's injury is described as a separation of his collarbone and breastbone in his right shoulder. Herman is out with a sacroiliac back. Lavagetto is laid up with calcification in the region of his right elbow and Galan is being treated for a pulled tendon in his left forearm.

Giants Too

MIAMI, Fla.—With the season opener just 15 days away, four important members of the New York Giants still are on the sidelines. Shortstop Bill Rigney and pitcher Harry Feldman won't be out more than a few days and infielder Mickey Witek and outfielder Sid Gordon may be idle longer.

William H. (Dinty) Moore, U. S. Naval Academy lacrosse coach, is also president of the Maryland College for Women at Lutherville.

HARDING'S BASEBALL, TRACK DRILLS OPEN

Season's First Session Set for Stadium Today.

Harding High school will send out first calls for baseball and track practice today. Arrangements have been made with the Marion Cardinals to use Lincoln Park after April 15 for baseball. Schedules in both sports are still in the tentative stage.

Tonight's session at the Harding stadium will be largely organizational with only a minimum of workout planned.

Dewey Bohyer, the school's athletic director, said a play-as-you-go schedule in baseball and track would be arranged with after school meets booked at schools within a radius of 40 to 50 miles of Marion.

Chief Bradley Says Tribe Will Give Foes Good Fight

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, April 1—The Cleveland Indians will have a "scrappy ball club that will give every team in the league a fight" in a wide open scramble for the 1946 American league pennant, says Alva Bradley, president of the Tribesmen.

Bradley, who returned from the Indians' Clearwater, Fla., training camp yesterday with a deep tan and an optimistic gleam in his eye, praised a quartet of Tribe rookies, and declared:

"The New York Yankees aren't going to run away with the pennant. The Red Sox are formidable and the Tigers have power—but I believe Cleveland fans will be proud of their team."

The Indians' president declined to say how proud Cleveland fans would be this summer, since he traditionally refuses to predict the Tribe's rank in the final standings.

Bradley asserted Manager Lou Boudreau would unveil a "hustling, harmonious" team, including "one of the best crops of rookies the Indians have had in years," in the club's home-opener against the world champion Detroit Tigers, April 20.

Slugging catcher Sherman Lollar, infielder Bob Lemon, and outfielders Gene Woodling and Hank Edwards received special praise from Bradley.

Keltner Due to Play

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Ken Keltner, veteran star recently released from the Navy, was expected to make his first exhibition appearance at third base today as the Indians attempt to cool off the torrid St. Louis Cardinals.

The red hot Red Birds edged the Indians 3 to 2 in 10 innings here yesterday after Rapid Robert Feller held the National leaguers scoreless for six innings.

BOSS SAYS STRATTON TO WIN 25 IN 1946

One-Legged Pitcher Looks Good in Training Camp.

By The Associated Press

SHERMAN, Texas, April 1—Monty Stratton, who lost a leg in 1938 to halt a brilliant career in the majors, will return to professional baseball this year with 25 pitching victories, predicts Guy Sturdy, manager of the Sherman club of the East Texas league.

What Monty did yesterday in a practice game between tryout camps of Sherman and Paris indicated Sturdy's observation was well-placed.

The gangling Stratton, former White Sox pitching ace, hurled against Paris in his first appearance in professional baseball since a hunting accident cost him his right leg above the knee.

Monty worked three innings, fanning seven of twelve batters, giving up only two hits and cracking a single and a long fly in two appearances at the plate. Sherman won the game 19-3.

"His arm is as good as ever," said Sturdy.

Dillion Does Okay at Nashville Camp

Harold Dillion of the Marion Y-Indus club who reported to the Nashville baseball club at Macon, Ga., several weeks ago wrote back in a letter that his baseball is coming along fine. In three intra-squad games he has battled eight times and has a single, double, and triple plus two walks.

Dillion reported that he will have to fight to stay on the Nashville playing roster as they have eight good catches with playing experience and all are long ball hitters.

RAIN AND INJURY HAMPER CARD DRILL

Roseberry's Ankle Holds Him Down at Georgia Camp.

From Albany, Ga. comes a report that the third day of practice for the Marion Cardinals was rained out and so far Marion's prospective team has limited itself to warm up and pepper practice.

Joe Carl Roseberry, local pitcher, is hampered in his try-out efforts by a sprained ankle suffered a short time before he left for the training camp.

Saturday, National Association President W. G. Bramham announced approval of a plan to allow minor league clubs to carry excess players until June 15 instead of trimming down their roster 20 days after opening. Marion can thus carry up to five more players than their regular season roster of 15.

Fire Kills 21 Horses, Mars Bowie's Opening

By The Associated Press

BOWIE, Md., April 1—Racing returned to Maryland and the east today when Bowie opened a 12-day spring meeting—the first to be held here since 1942—with some well-known names missing from the entry lists because of a fire which caused the deaths of 21 horses.

Saturday night's costly fire of undetermined origin was the third important development to precede Bowie's return to the racing scene after a war-time lay-off caused by transportation restrictions.

Five horses killed in the fire which destroyed one barn and damaged two others had been entered on the opening-day card.

Wirephoto Reunites Ohio Man and Son Separated 16 Years

By The Associated Press

YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 1—A wirephoto has put a 78-year-old father in touch with the son he had not heard from since 1930, and now the son knows his father is not dead, as he had supposed.

Michael Yunick, of nearby Struthers, saw a photograph in the newspaper. The picture was from Omaha, Nebr., and showed John and Rose Yunick. The caption said they had offered to adopt three children whose parents said the youngsters made them "nervous."

Yunick recognized his son John. The son's brothers and sisters verified the identification. Neighbors and friends noticed the picture too. Telephone calls poured in to the family.

Then one of John's sisters, Mrs. Mary McArdle of Youngstown, telephoned Omaha, and with the help of the Omaha World-Herald located the man who had appeared in the wirephoto.

John Yunick told the sister he had heard, back in 1936, that his father had died. His sister's call was the first word he had received that the 78-year-old father is still alive.

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

DICKY looked a bit sheepish at my amused retort to his captious query.

"Sorry, sorry!" he said. "But I was on tenterhooks about Mother."

"I know," I said remorsefully, "and I'm sorry I stayed so long. But I really couldn't help it—much," I added with reluctant truth-telling. "I could have torn myself away before I did."

"No?" Dicky gibed. "You don't mean it!"

"Shut up!" I told him, with the comfortable slangy comradeship of long-married lovers, "or I won't tell you a single thing."

"You know you'll burst into xmithereens if you don't," he said knowingly, and I gave a grudging laugh.

"You win," I said, and drew a chair opposite his wheeled one.

When I had seated myself I drew a long breath—I needed it—and Dicky laughed.

"You must be bursting with revelations!" he taunted.

"I am!" I retorted. "For I have to bring you up to date about many things. But I'll have plenty of time. Katharine won't be back from her own apartment for the next quarter of an hour."

"Katharine!" he exploded. "Who is with Mother?"

Stiffly Erect

"Mary is with her," I told him, and then, as he still sat stiffly erect with frowning brows, I explained.

"Do you think Katharine would have left her with anyone whom she did not consider safe?" I asked, then hastily answered my own question.

"Katharine said Mother undoubtedly would sleep for hours," I said, "and added that, if she should rouse, Mary only had to step to the telephone and summon Katharine, or to this door and call me. Besides, Katharine knows that Mary has taken a Nurses' Aide course, with credit, and is perfectly capable of keeping a short vigil such as this one."

Dicky's brows were relaxed, and he was leaning back in his chair by the time I had finished.

Seventeen Kinds of Idiot

"I'm seventeen kinds of an anointed idiot, I know," he began, but I leaned forward and touched his lips lightly.

"No, you're simply an anxious, dutiful son," I told him, "and I love you for it."

"Do you know you're pretty sweet?" he asked, but I brushed aside the interpolation.

"I'll take a rain check on that compliment," I told him smiling. "Just now, I want to start my saga."

"Well, I'm not stopping you," he said. "I suppose you're going to begin with the presentation of the Boy Scout gifts. That must have been something to see."

Detailed Description

"It was," I told him dryly, and then launched into a swift but detailed description of the scene in the boys' apartment when Noel and Mary had come in, loaded down with the Boy Scout equipment, the buying of which by Noel had been Mary's clever ruse to keep him from finding out about the photographs which Georges had returned, and which Faith had discovered.

"And the boys never turned a hair?" Dicky queried jubilantly when I had finished.

"They were wonderful!" I answered. "You would have thought they had been on the stage for years."

"Well, we won't have to worry about our old age," he quipped. "We'll put 'em in Hollywood—and Faith, also," he added loyally. "She's the best Thespian of them all."

"Ah, Faith!" I said with an unconscious sigh, and Faith's father spoke quickly.

"What about Faith?" he queried tensely.

"Simply that she must not attend the luncheon today," I said. "Katharine is trying to concoct a scheme for keeping her contented here while we go."

YOUR HEALTH

Psoriasis

In his role of medical detective, the doctor must sometimes follow strange clues before he can find and eliminate disease-creating trouble makers. Often, like the more usual crime detective, his discoveries themselves prove to be only further clues, hinting at greater mysteries beyond.

Consider the baffling disease known as psoriasis. Some of the facts about it are fairly well understood, but so far there is no information as to its exact cause, nor any form of treatment which will get rid of it permanently.

Chief manifestation of psoriasis is a skin rash on various parts of the body, particularly the knees, elbows and chest, made up of red patches covered with fine, silvery scales. When the scales come off, they leave tiny bleeding points. There may be some itching but there are no other particular symptoms.

Like most rashes, psoriasis has been treated with special diets. Strangely enough, however, in this peculiar disease, one kind of diet will help one patient while another will be aided by a different one.

Some have been treated by giving them a diet poor in proteins such as meat, cheese, and eggs. Others have improved, at least temporarily, on diets low in starches, sugars and fats.

Observing that the disease seems to have a tendency to run in certain families, Doctor Jacob H. Swartz of Boston, believes that the victim of psoriasis may be born with an especialy sensitive type of skin. Not sensitive to anything and everything, but only to certain poisons formed by germs in the lower bowel.

He reached this conclusion from study of a number of patients in whom he found a uniform slowing down of the movement of waste materials in the lower bowel, a condition which would make for accumulation of large numbers of germs in this area.

Following this clue, he made a vaccine from a number of different germs from the stools. When it was injected into the skin of some patients, the rash was made worse. Further study showed that the germ known as streptococcus faecalis was the only one causing the rash to become worse.

However, when the amount of the streptococcus faecalis vaccine injected into the skin was decreased, then the psoriasis rash, in many instances, did not become worse, but showed moderate to marked improvement. In other words, the dose of the vaccine injected had to be small in order for it to help the patient.

Morever, a large dose of vaccine not only increased the severity of the rash, but in two cases caused swelling and pain in the fingers. It is a well-known fact that patients with psoriasis may suffer with inflammation of the joints—a form of arthritis.

From this study it would appear that the germ known as streptococcus faecalis is a factor in producing psoriasis. This is especially true in persons with constipation. While more study is needed in this problem, psoriases patients should try to avoid constipation.

End of U. S. Cavalry Saddens Old Timers

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 1—Military men heard with sentimental regret today that the war department has decided to abolish the cavalry as a separate branch of the Army.

There was no official confirmation, but service publications report that a general Army reorganization proposal awaiting president Truman's approval calls for merging the horse outfits with the armored force.

Trends in World War II were all in that direction. The First Cavalry division fought on foot in the Pacific, and Negro troopers of the Second Cavalry division were employed in service units after the North Africa landing.

The horse cavalry did see some action, though, in the China-India-Burma theater.

Abolition of the cavalry as a separate branch will be the final chapter in a spectacular military history studded by such names as Robert E. Lee, George A. Custer and George S. Patton.

Thanks Folks . . . .

Our sale of the Midway coming on short notice has left us no better method than this of saying thanks.

Thanks to the thousands of loyal patrons and genuine friends we have made during our 23 years of operating the Midway.

Thanks to our present and hundreds of past loyal helpers who have given so generously of their efforts to help keep our patrons satisfied.

Thanks to the suppliers who have so often come up with the impossible just when it looked as though we'd not have enough for the next meal.

To our successors, who are now operating the Midway, we can wish nothing better than that your patronage and friendship be transferred to them, not, of course, forgetting us entirely.

We plan to take a vacation . . . do a little fishing, a little golfing and a LOT of resting.

APRIL 6th

Know your Regular Army in Peace

VICTORY has stilled the guns of war and stopped the terrible carnage of combat. But it has not ended the task to which this nation has dedicated itself since December 7, 1941.

On the armies which conquered the aggressors now falls the solemn obligation of securing their hard-won triumph . . . of bringing order out of the chaos of war-torn countries . . . of carrying out the commitments entered into by our Government.

More than half a million young men from every corner of the United States already have joined the new peacetime Regular Army to see this job through, and to take advantage of the splendid new enlistment privileges which make the peacetime Regular Army one of the most attractive careers open to them today.

On April 6, Army Day, you will have an opportunity to meet your new Army face to face at public exhibits and demonstrations throughout the United States. By visiting these displays, you will, perhaps for the first time, appreciate the full scope of the Army's activities, and the enormous contributions they make to every-day civilian life.

The Army's research and exploration in radar, electronics, aviation, communications, chemistry, medicine, sanitation, disease control, mechanics, engineering and countless other fields are all important to you. For eventually you benefit from their inventions, developments and improvements.

"Colonel Zohms"—Strictly A Phoney—Recalled by Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

AP Newsfeatures Writer

ATHENS, April 1—April Fool's Day is perhaps as good as any to recall the military career of Col. Harry Zohms, who won no medals but cut more red tape than any man in army history.

Harry was the army's best friend to hard-pressed war correspondents and they repaid him with spectacular promotions.

Hal Boyle

Yet you won't find his name on an official roster. "Our Harry" existed only in the imagination of a number of needy war correspondents who invented him as a kind of military Santa Claus.

In the early days of the war it was possible to move about the battlefronts freely. This gypsy life ended as our military machine overseas grew bigger and by the time of the Normandy landings newspapermen, found themselves pretty well handcuffed by growing coils of red tape.

In this emergency some journalistic genius created and commissioned Lt. Harry Zohms without benefit of congressional sanction.

If you wanted a case of field rations to eat on the road you just drew up a requisition for them and anybody handy signed the flourishing signature of "Lieutenant Harry Zohms, Quartermaster corps." The rations were forthcoming immediately.

There seemed to be a certain magic in Harry's last name. "Zohms" looked so artificial anybody thought it could possible be a fake. But this authority to issue some of his grandiose orders with only the rank of Lieutenant occasionally was questioned. So we gave him well earned promotions.

Harry rose from Lieutenant to Captain, to Major, to Lieutenant Colonel and finally full Colonel. At the war's end we were considering rewarding him with the star of a Brigadier and putting him on the general staff.

Death of Bride's Mother Casts Shadow of Sorrow Over Wedding at Galion

While getting ready for her daughter's wedding Sunday afternoon, Mrs. Roy Tuttle suffered a cerebral hemorrhage and died sudenly at 1 p. m.

The hour of the wedding was changed from 3 o'clock to 4 o'clock after Mrs. Tuttle's death, and only the immediate families were present for the wedding which took place at First Baptist church. Rev. C. G. Collison read the single ring service, before the church altar which was decorated with flowers, palms and candelabra.

Organist Plays

Mr. Edlin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward G. Edlin of Sterling, Ill., and his sister, Mrs. D. M. Ink of Cedar Rapids, Ia., came to Galion for the wedding.

In Ill Heath Some Time

Mrs. Tuttle had been in ill health some time.

Born July 15, 1886, she was a native of Payne, O. June 4, 1902, she was married to Roy Tuttle. She was a member of First Baptist church.

TAXPAYER'S SUIT FILED

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 1 — A tax payer's suit was filed today with the Ohio supreme court asking prohibition of the April 11 referendum on Toledo's one per cent payroll tax.

Death Takes Martin L. Davey

libel, and threatened to have him arrested if he set foot in Ohio, but later withdrew the charge. In 1936 he was at peace with the national administration, seconding the nomination of President Roosevelt in the national convention.

Davey also called out the National Guard in 1937 to enter the Mahoning valley during the "Little Steel" strike, first to keep the mills closed and then to preserve order when they opened.

Toward the end of his administration the Ohio senate engaged in an investigation of alleged graft in the state government, particularly in the highway department. Contracts involving "hot mix" paving were the principal target in the investigation.

Looked for Breaks

He played politics, some said, as recklessly as he played contract bridge. But he quickly grabbed the "breaks," and many persons credited him with being one of the shrewdest political opportunists who ever sat in the governor's chair at Columbus.

When the Democrats refused to nominate him for a third term in 1938, he told friends he was not through and was keeping his "pitching arm in good shape."

And this he tried to do. For instance, he mailed Christmas greeting cards to nearly 180,000 persons in 1939. He fired numerous verbal volleys at the Bricker administration that succeeded him.

But he failed to win a third term as governor. He gained his party's nomination in 1940, but the licking that John W. Bricker gave him in November was the first any major party gubernatorial candidate ever took in Ohio—he trailed by more than 350,000 votes.

So Davey went back to Kent to run his tree surgery business and little more was heard of him politically.

Davey's father, John, an Englishman, came to America in 1873. Martin was born, July 25, 1884, in a two-room house on the banks of the Cuyahoga river where his father operated a small greenhouse.

At the age of 11 Martin peddled vegetables from house to house in Kent to help support his family. He was graduated from Kent High school, attended Oberlin Academy and in 1907 became general manager of the Davey Tree Expert Co., founded by his father.

Built Nation-Wide Business

As a "tree doctor," he built the company into a national organization with branches in more than 70 cities.

When Davey finally entered the governor's mansion in January, 1935, it was with a pledge that "I alone will be governor of Ohio."

He boasted as an outstanding achievement the fact that no new taxes were levied in his administration.

All the while he was skirmishing with his "enemies" and he ran the gantlets of three investigations.

Davey had a flair for the dramatic.

He was meticulous in dress and carried an extensive wardrobe on trips throughout the state.

His stamina on campaign trips amazed a secretarial staff which was hard-pressed to keep up with him. While he liked parties, he usually was ready for business early the next morning. To keep fit, he used a rowing machine and took long walks.

SENATE CANDIDATE SEES G.O.P. LEADERS

Tom Ireland Seeks Short Term Nomination.

Tom Ireland, candidate for the term in the U. S. senate, visited Republican leaders in Marion Saturday.

The Cleveland candidate, a former infantry captain in World War II, is writing a book on a plan for preventing another war. He expressed his belief that the title of senator would enable him to meet statesmen abroad and from them obtain truthful and accurate information for his book.

Ireland believes if the general system of OPA controls in defiance of the law of supply and demand are not soon removed, this country will sufer the "worst financial convulsion it has ever known." He declared that enough economy could be effected in the federal government to bring the situation about that no one receiving $3,000 or less a year, should have to pay an income tax.

Ireland expressed the belief that this country's relations with Russia have reached a crisis. "Chaos in Japan, China, India and Europe has arrived at the point where only the United State can exert pressure on Russia," he said. He believes the government must determine precisely in what regions of the earth it can afford to yield to the Soviet and in what other regions it must adamantly insist on not giving way.

In the the American, British and French zones, the Social Democrats voted 18,529 to 2,937 against merging with the Communists.

FEW ISSUES RESIST MARKET'S DOWNTURN

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 1—Selected stocks continued to give a fairly good account of themselves today although the market, as a whole, was inclined to negotiate a sluggish retreat.

The walkout of 400,000 soft coal miners, while expected, tended to chill bullish enthusiasm to a considerable extent.

Dealings were negligible after a moderately active opening. Declines of fractions to a point or more predominated near the fourth hour. Steels were soft throughout.

Among resistant issues were Radio Corp., relatively lively with an advance of around a point; Pure Oil, Standard Oil (NJ), General Electric, Engineers Public Service and American Power & Light.

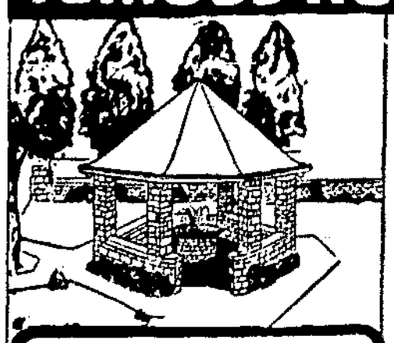
RHEUMATISM

Arthritis-Neuritis Sciatica-Lumbago Treated by Non-Surgical Methods at World's

For 24 years the Ball Clinic has specialized in the treatment of Rheumatism. Tens of thousands of people suffering from these diseases have been successfully treated.

Famous Health Resort



WORLD'S MOST FAMOUS HEALTH WATERS

Nature has provided here in Excelsior Springs a greater variety of mineral waters than in any other mineral water Spa in the world. Health seekers from all parts of the world are confirming the startling stories of almost miraculous recoveries to be found in these waters. Above is a mineral water pagoda located on our own grounds.

Rheumatism and its kindred diseases of Arthritis, Neuritis, Sciatica and Lumbago rank as one of the leading causes of illness because sufferers from these conditions regard the first aches and pains as trivial and unimportant instead of realizing that these very aches and pains may result in serious disease . . . dangerous to life and ruinous to your health and future happiness.

Pain and distress are nature's warning that something is wrong with your system . . . something that if let go may lead to serious complications that may result in permanent injury. The parts of your body affected by pain are ONLY THE LOCAL SYMPTOM of what may be systemic or chronic constitutional disease.

If you have long suffered from Rheumatism or the kindred diseases of Arthritis, Sciatica or Lumbago and have found no permanent relief . . . then take time out today and investigate the Ball new type, modern, trustworthy, non-surgical treatment that has helped so many and which may mean much to your future health and happiness.

Home Treatment Usually Futile

Because Rheumatism, Arthritis, Neuritis, Sciatica and Lumbago are constitutional diseases it is usually futile for sufferers to treat themselves at home. Drugs and Medicines that give temporary relief from your aches and pains will not do one bit of good toward relieving you of the causes of your condition.

The very nature of the causes and the complexity of the diseases are such that only the most highly skilled treatments can be depended upon for lasting results. The sooner you avoid yourself of the kind of treatment your condition requires . . . the sooner you will be on the road to better health.

Remove Poisons from the System

The first principle of the Ball Clinic method of treating Rheumatic conditions is to go directly to the cause of your suffering and cause the removal of those poisons or conditions that are in your system and which are causing your suffering.

Many of the things that you have done, the help of the sufferer has problem in treatment that sometimes requires several months of treatment. These various methods of treatment are all available at the Ball Clinic and at the same time and price.

FREE Diagnosis and Examination

On your arrival here we will make a complete examination without charge. Each doctor who examines you is specialized expert in his line. There is absolutely no charge for this examination. You are not under any obligation whatever to take treatment. You are free to decide after you have had the examination. THEN WHETHER OR NOT YOU TAKE TREATMENT WE ADVISE.

LOW COST TREATMENT

The Heavy Curse of Absolutism

READING the transcript of discussion at the United Nations Security Council meetings, one can see more clearly than before that the basic issue of international relations is between the absolute and the relative.

These are not, unfortunately, satisfactory words to describe the conflict, but they are the best available. They denote on the one hand an attitude which in politics gives rise to the doctrine of absolutism—unconditional power vested in an autocrat—and on the other hand gives rise to the doctrine which Americans sometimes express as "Live and let live."

Thus, the source of much conflict with Russian opinion and action is the creed that the Soviet Union and its ideology of Communism must be supreme, to the exclusion of all other rights both claimed and established. This creed is in contrast with an American belief that nations and ideologies can exist side by side in a world which makes allowance for differences of opinion.

The theory of the United Nations, as Americans understand it, is that differences of opinion can be reconciled and compromised. It has taken only a little experimentation, however, to reveal that the Russian government is not prepared to proceed on the same theory; that officially it is intolerant of any position that challenges Russian policy.

Absolutism is not confined, however, to international relations, and certainly is not the exclusive characteristic of Russian officialdom. It was the principal feature of Germany's attitude under Hitler, who preached that German rights were supreme and led his nation in a ruthless crusade to liquidate all opposition inside and outside its borders. It was the basic idea behind Japanese aggression. And it has been adopted by segments of our own population.

We need most of all to realize its implications in our own affairs. Absolutism is as foreign to the spirit of the American experiment with freedom as the doctrine of unlimited monarchy. We need desperately to see the danger that it might be allowed to corrupt the American ideal of tolerance.

WE NEED to understand the significance of work stoppages ordered by labor "czars" for purposes that are unrelated to the general welfare and maintained in a manner that denies the American doctrine of majority rule.

We need to be aware of the implications of "purges" in our political parties that could lead to party dictatorship and might even lead to the development of a one-party autocracy.

We need to be alert to the irreconcilable attitudes of minorities which arrogantly refuse to enter into any kind of a working relationship with other minorities for a common cause and we particularly need to be informed of the activities of minorities that preach and practice sedition under the protection of free speech.

Absolutism reached the bursting point and spattered the universe with its infection in the war years. It must be controlled, if it can be controlled, by development of immunity in the minds of all who understand the danger and are on guard against it. That is the great purpose of the United Nations in relations between governments. It is the purpose of the real liberals in the United States—in contrast to the bogus liberals who preach and practice various versions of despotism in the guise of liberalism. Absolutism and despotism are the same thing. Both deny the right of opposition. Neither recognizes the possibility that a question may have two answers, or that each in a dispute may be partly right and partly wrong.

The fight for human dignity has been a war against despots. It never ends. World War II shattered one of the most formidable plots of despotism ever conceived, but would-be despots are still busy in countless places, hoping for a fatal relaxation of the eternal vigilance which is the price men must pay for liberty.

UN or UNO?

THERE CAN be no doubt that the correct name of the thing most Americans have been calling UNO is UN, standing for United Nations.

The three-letter title, which stands for United Nations Organization, has no justification, being originally a device to make a distinction between the United Nations as they were in the war and the organization of the United Nations for cooperative security after the war. UNO, in other words, is the perpetuation of an accidental title that came into use when UN was one thing, but UNO was another. As a matter of fact, the United Nations never were popularly referred to as UN, which is as awkward as that other two letter alphabetic title VA, for Veterans Administration.

The present move to correct the title to UN is picking up a following, but it will be a long time before the O will be dropped by all of us who have seized upon UNO as something that looks good in print and is easy to say, either as U-N-O, or as one word, Uno. The sticklers for correct form may as well admit that UNO is handy, even if it doesn't mean anything.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

Baruch Called in To Put Out Another Fire.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—Whenever the Democrats get into a real trouble, they call on Baruch, the financier. He was assigned the dangerous task of keeping the atom bomb safe for democracies without offense to others, as chairman of the new commission. Again he was rushed up to the house banking committee to save the OPA and war powers control bill, about which congress is plainly dubious in the face of business clamor to kick off government restraints. But in this last assignment, Baruch utterly destroyed the fictions of the administration inflation policy—said the price structure is out of gear, mistakes have been tragic, the Truman-Bowles bulge in the line against inflation was actually a break and a grave one—and laid down his own new program to harness inflation and get production.

No Chance of Adoption

The program will not be adopted. While Baruch has long served as a fireman for the administration, and has been called in to put out blazes getting beyond control, and generally disregarded advice—the administration never follows the advice. At the outset of the war, this clear-thinking and unprejudiced mind openly told Mr. Roosevelt how to prevent inflation by a real wage-price control, but the President punctured his control setup so that it became a sieve with the resultant prices of today and the unending wage dispute. Again Baruch submitted a report on reconversion just before the war end, and only one of his points was adopted—reconversion being left in its current state.

The official fireman, thus, has been unable to get his own fire extinguisher adopted in the past simply because the administration wanted to play political economics—wanted to get the votes of pressure groups—rather than to accomplish its announced objectives.

The new Baruch plan is suffering from the same trouble. A ban on strikes for a year seems impossible to attain because of opposition of the unions. Establishment of a high court of commerce to plan an economy fair to all groups is difficult because the pressure groups would try to pack it, as they have packed similar economic tribunals or pressured them into ineffectiveness. To dispel the sham contention that wage increases will not bring price increases would be contrary to what is considered a good political working formula by the administration in an election year.

Now the administration is already doing most of the other things Baruch recommended, but frequently in such a way as to defeat its own purposes. While it is doing his things, it is simultaneously doing other things at cross purposes which prevent it from getting results, or achieving announced goals. Its wage increase policy is, for instance, at cross purposes with its inflation and price policies; and its price-holding policy is being daily violated by allowances of indirect price increases.

Patch-work Program

So we seem to be inevitably embarked on a loose patch-work reconversion program from which we are not likely to escape. I judge, for instance, congress will enact a limited compromise renewal of the war powers and OPA, with amendments designed to correct the worst defects, but the correction of the defects will rest with the administrative branch. Congress cannot take hold and legislate a whole new program. Once the administration gets renewal of its powers, it no doubt will continue its chosen, current way.

This way will not be unsatisfactory to business, but will fail to establish any permanent solution of the labor problem or confidence for the economic future. My guess is some private assurances have already been made that the Bowles idea of limiting profits to pre-inflation levels, while inflating wages, will not be carried into effect. Indeed, price increases have been authorized daily for the past three weeks to get production, and I see the stock market is staggering to its feet after having been knocked flat by the first announcement of the new Truman-Bowles policy.

However, once we get production, most of our ills will evaporate, because competition can protect prices better than government, and if competition can be restored in the labor market, there will be fewer strikes.

Just a Minute

By Jack Tarver

BY THEIR DEMEANOR YOU SHALL KNOW THEM

The Army plans to clothe both officers and enlisted men in the same type outfits, thus bringing into actuality the punsters' dream—uniform uniforms.

After June 30, 1948, the only means of differentiating between the various ranks will be by their insignia and privileges.

Generals will wear stars; colonels, eagles, majors, oak leaves; captains and lieutenants, bars; and non-coms, stripes. As in the past, buck privates may be identified by the way they jump when someone shouts, "HEY, YOU . . ."

The war department hopes the accent will be on ability, now that clothes no longer make the officer.

This is but another step in the democratization of our armed forces. Before long second lieutenants may be elected by popular vote.

Heretofore, the captains have spoken only to majors, the colonels only to generals and MacArthur only to MacArthur.

Incidentally, the Army's new emphasis on clothes, fits in nicely with the current recruiting campaign. The suit and shirt shortage being what it is, many an ex-serviceman is re-enlisting rather than face a jail term for public indecency.

Radio "Hams" Back on Job

Renewed Activities Produce Worldwide Party Line.

GLOBAL conversation is becoming almost as common as daily chatter on rural party lines, reports from several American cities had indicated this week as post-war freedom of the ether continued producing hundreds of ambitious amateur radio operators known as "hams."

Once again they are as busy as a hill of ants contacting other hams in the far corners of the earth with several cities reporting interesting broadcasts to and from the Far East and Europe.

Boston recently reported conversations between the wife of a GI from her American home and her husband in Germany, while San Francisco had a mother-son conversation from the U. S. to China and Detroit reported another in which a father in that city talked to his son on the island of Guam.

Across the Pacific

San Francisco lists a large quota of hams and reports some of them contacting other hams as far away as Australia. One amateur operator in that city recently arranged for a conversation between Corp. John McNulty, who is stationed in Chungking, China and his mother in San Francisco. Until that conversation she had not heard from him in two months.

Army sources in Nuernberg, Germany, recently reported that T Sgt. Joseph C. Holzer of Indianapolis and Staff Sgt. Carmen T. Tona, of Buffalo, N. Y., after much scouting for parts to build a ham set, were rewarded with an early contact with Boston. The latter station, they reported, came in as though it were next door. Holzer said he once contacted a friend in Indiana and advised "Call my wife and say I'll be mailing a letter to her in 15 minutes."

The two GI's report that their set is somewhat international in character. It is made up of Italian, German, French, English and American transmitter parts. They had collected the parts after a patient search of the region and they believe their set is as makeshift as any ever put together.

Some Keep Cost Low

Hams in some American cities report that they are able to construct makeshift sets for as low as $25 while others build sets from new parts at a cost ranging from $50 up.

An operator's license and one for the station are required by the Federal Communications Commission for all hams. They must be competent in sending Morse code and know radio thoroughly. These requirements served the nation well in the war, since many of the hams were well equipped for army and navy radio service. They were off the air from December, 1941, until the end of the war, but current renewed interest in the field, according to radio experts, presages boom years ahead.

New Toledo Plan

Toledo, which attracted national attention with its "Toledo Plan" for industrial peace before the war, has made a new move to improve labor-management relations.

Its city council recently approved an industrial relations charter creating an 18-man committee to undertake fact-finding and provide arbitration facilities.

Six principles are included in the charter to guide the committee. They are:

(1) Management acknowledges the right of employes to form labor organizations without interference and to bargain collectively.

(2) Labor recognizes the inherent right of management to direct the operations of the enterprise.

(3) Neither labor nor management will discriminate against any employe because of race or color.

(4) Management and labor agree that improvement in productive efficiency and technological advances result in lower costs and selling prices and wider markets.

(5) Labor and management realize that differences and disagreements should be minimized by joint discussion and by voluntary utilization of mediation, fact-finding and arbitration facilities made available through the labor-management-citizens committee.

(6) Labor and management agree that an educational program is desirable to promote a better understanding among workers, union officials, supervisors, foremen and managers.

Under the terms of the charter, the labor - management - citizens committee will be made up of six labor representatives, six management representatives and six representatives of the public. They will all be named to the committee by the mayor.

CLAWS AND EFFECT

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Wednesday, April 1, 1936.

Startling developments were threatened in the Lindbergh baby kidnaping case following the halting of the execution of Bruno Richard Hauptmann the previous night, after the Mercer county grand jury had asked postponement of the execution for 48 hours. The warden of the New Jersey penitentiary announced that the execution had been set for the following Friday night.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull told a house appropriations committee that the United States was leading the world against war through its trade, naval arms reduction and "good neighbor" policies.

"The Novel Princess," a romantic comedy, was presented by seniors of Harding High school at the Ohio theater with Miss Gwendolyn Mouser and Jack Markwith in the leading roles.

Mrs. C. R. Clapsaddle, 75, died at her home at 707 North Main street.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Sterling of 954 Westwood drive.

Mrs. E. H. Ward, Mrs. E. L. Trott and Mrs. A. J. Wagner were hostesses for a meeting of the Elks Women's club. Mrs. Jess Kleinmaier, Mrs. A. W. Cook and Mrs. R. E. Prettyman were winners in cards for the afternoon.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Thursday, April 1, 1926.

A terrific windstorm and blizzard which swept in from the midwest gave Marion and vicinity what was described as the most unusual "April fool joke" of recent years. There was a 26-degree drop in temperature and a snow fall of one and one-half inches. Telephone lines were torn down, roofs blow off two houses, trees damaged and automobile radiators frozen.

Dr. James W. McMurray, Marion county chairman of citizens' military training camp enrollment, announced that six applications had been received.

The Isaly dairy basketball team of Marion won the Central Ohio championship by defeating the Columbus Fountain Drugs in the final game of the tournament at Columbus, 35 to 25. Penry, with six field goals and Applegate with five were Marion's high scorers. Penry led the Isaly team scoring of the season with a total of 197 points. Applegate was next with 153.

Reform Due in Congress

By Jack Stinnett

WASHINGTON—Something is going to be done about the streamlining of congress—something at least to the extent of introducing legislation.

Will that be as far as it goes?

Probably the first measure to reach the hopper since report of the LaFollette - Monroney joint committee on reorganization of congress will be that upping congressional salaries and providing for $8,000-a-year or so administrative assistants for each member.

The chances of this coming to a vote before the November elections are slim. The house members and those senators up for re-election want no more of that "Bundles for Congress" stuff. They are afraid of it in spite of the fact that almost everybody whose word counts for anything has agreed that members of congress need higher salaries and administrative assistants to take the load of detail off their shoulders.

Needs Overhauling

With a few exceptions on specific points, it's agreed by an overwhelming majority of experts on government and the members themselves that congress needs overhauling.

Then who will block these Congressional reforms? Who's opposed to them?

(1) Scores and scores of members of congress themselves. In many instances they will give up service to the whole program, but do everything in their power to block any tidal wave of reform.

Aside from those who want to go home to their voters and say they never, never voted themselves a salary increase, most would be ready and willing to get more money and more help in getting their complex jobs done. That is, they would if it weren't for fear of the voters this November or the weapons they will place in the hands of the men and women who are going to campaign against them.

(2) Committee members and committee chairmen in both chambers. The LaFollette-Monroney report suggests cutting the 33 Senate standing committees to 16; the 48 in the House to 18.

That means that 47 committee chairmen would lose their jobs, the prestige that goes with them and, in almost every instance, the privilege of hiring and paying committee "employes." Often, these committee employes work so little that they are nothing more than errand boys for the men who appoint them, but the jobs are juicy patronage posts.

There is some sincere opposition to consolidation of committees. Twenty-odd years ago, several House committees were consolidated into the House committee on appropriations. Opponents of committee reform argue that under the New Deal, the appropriations committee, dominated by the administration, went completely off the deep end in approving expenditures. They claim that several committees, occupied with appropriations in various fields, never could have been persuaded to give approval to what they feel was wholesale, wasteful spending.

Battle of Lobbies

It's a paradox, but if some recommendations of the LaFollette-Monroney committee are ever to become law, it will be as a result of a fight between pressure groups—lobbies.

Some lobbies have the greatest good for the greatest number at heart. One of these, for example, is the League of Women Voters, who profess to nothing more than getting out the vote and presenting a clear picture of most major issues.

There are a number of these better-government lobbies which will fight tooth and nail for the suggested reforms.

These and some other lobbies, like the National Association of Manufacturers, the American Legion and other veterans groups, the big labor union consolidations, and the major farm groups, operate completely in the open. They state their cases clearly before congressional committees or in the speeches of their officials, and let the chips fall where they may.

There are hundreds, and I do mean hundreds, of others that prance around in the congressional murk, convincing those who contribute to their upkeep and some members of congress that they wield tremendous power.

One proposal of the LaFollette-Monroney committee is that a law be passed to force these pressure groups to register and set forth their sources of income and expenditures.

Some Others Opposed

Some of the strictly legitimate lobbies don't like this idea either. Even if they don't have a thing to hide, they don't like prying into private matters. It's a new custom to which old Americans are unaccustomed.

For those lobbies that do have something to hide, such a law would mean sudden death, just as the foreign agent registration law became an instrument against spies and propagandists even before we got into World War II.

Consequently, many of the pressure groups are afraid of what will happen if the wave of congressional reform gets under way.

Many having established their pipelines, contacts and influences into various committees, don't want these disturbed. Thus these lobby representatives are all for leaving congressional confusion as it is. It's a fertile field now, they argue, why plow it under.

For the most part, lobbies are the pressure of minorities. If they had to register and make an affidavit to actual numerical membership, their claims might be reduced to the ridiculous.

Farewell to Beer

BEER is going to be so scarce this summer they may serve it in ounce glasses and demand a letter of introduction.

It will be almost as hard to get as dollar ambition. And not any easier to drink.

* * *

In fact some pessimists are predicting a Fourth of July it will cost you ten cents for "The Stein Song" from a juke box.

* * *

There may even be Beerless Tuesdays!

* * *

And we have already heard of a blacksmith fellow who insists that to get a case of beer a customer will agree to take four cans of pretzels, two pounds of cheese and a box of cigars.

* * *

The latest type of hoarder is the Beer Hoarder. "Come on down into the cellar and see my collection of lager" is already being heard in many homes.

* * *

And it is entirely probable that before the year is out the brewery wagon may give way to the armored truck.

* * *

It's all because of the grain that was saved and sent to relieve the hungry in Europe. Nobody can complain when a thirst is sacrificed to such a noble cause.

* * *

But it is going to ruin the Elks picnic, the City Hall outing and the ball games between single and married men at Mulligan's Gym.

* * *

And we predict that it will do more to turn the general public to a hatred of war than anything so far. A beer drinker is a beer drinker and he has never thought he was asking much from life.

* * *

The free lunch went years ago, there's a tax on crackers, the loaf of bread has been cut 50 per cent, cheese is none too plentiful, the bartender with a smile is obsolete, running a growler has been frowned on for the last few years and a man can't go to the movies and find anybody to argue over the baseball situation.

* * *

It seems to us that life is going to seem very drab for a while to the fellow who didn't care for the hard stuff and whose only plea was "Put a head on it, Steve!"

CALL FOR MERCY

This department thinks it is about time the race horses of America staged some sort of a strike. And against the names that are being pinned on them. It used to be the rule to name a horse with a name that suggested some real like affection. Most names gave you the idea they were picked by people who loved horses or at least didn't dislike them much. But look at the names they are slapping on the newcomers these days . . . Milkwagonjoe' . . . Big Mack . . . The Fakir' . . . Risky Hash' . . . Soapsuds . . . Tar Lightly! . . . Droop Snoop! . . . Pea Soup!

* * *

And these are only a few of the least unfettering ones. We await the entry any day of Bag of Bones, The Drip, Justabum and Gas Factorygertie.

The delegates to the UNO Security Council eat at a cafeteria on the premises and what we can't help wondering is whether Hussien Nosey, the Iranian delegate, is even granted the right to eat.

Caught just behind the Polish delegate and directly in front of Mr. Gromyko in the line at the cafeteria, the Iranian visitor would be in a tough spot.

We understand the laugh of the week at the UNO cafeteria came when a steam-table waitress, having a little trouble ascertaining what was wanted by one of the most versatile interpreters at the session demanded, "Gee, can't you understand anything at all?"

Shudda Haddim played a UNO hunch in the horse parlay and cleaned up. The horses were Crisis, Worries and Hard War which won at $68 and $9.60. And he could have included Harpischord which clicked at $17.10.

Allergies

By Truman Twill

So far the specialists have only scratched the skin of the allergy proposition. They can also cover that the victim reacts unfavorably to animal fur, uncooked tomatoes, water lily pollen, peach fuzz, measuring worms, egg yolks, house cats, ragweed, golden rod, roses, shrimp and chicken feathers, but nothing is being done about the more serious allergies that produce red welts and angry eruptions on the morale.

These include such causes of human unhappiness as mezzo sopranos who screech over the radio, automobile horn tooters, ignorant motorists who yank little kids about in public places, boors who smoke smelly cigars on buses, and juveniles just learning to swear and fascinate all by the loud noise of their dirty words.

When specialists are looking for the cause behind loss of weight, nervous exhaustion, lack of vitality, let them look into the effect of public servants who abuse their position of trust by slandering their employers, you know, with nair that is too long and pants that are too short, the antics of the OPA and the control of a handful of labor leaders that the United States is a cow to be milked into their pail.

Along with strict diets to keep victims free of-mine allergies from having sneezing spells, nausea, the specialists should dope out some way to protect others from worry about the shrinking dollar and the expanding deficit and from trying to keep abreast of inflation; from fear that a gang of fuddy-duddy diplomats and former ward heelers may blunder their way into World War III; and from worry and the 24-hour-a-day effort to plant the absolute formula that things must be done my way or not at all you're dead.

Let the allergy hunters snoop into the facts about human beings ready to throw in the sponge because they haven't built up a resistance to chiseling, falsehood, studied discourtesy, double-dealing, indifference to suffering, misrepresentation under the flimsy excuse that the customer who isn't ready to fight for a square deal deserves to be played for a sucker.

Let them look into the red welts on human dignity being raised by the poison ivy of propaganda and the old-new proposition that the individual has no rights which can't be trampled down by whatever organization stakes out the claim first.

These, not egg yolks and uncooked tomatoes, are the things giving millions of people that slack-jawed, glassy-eyed appearance. With practice and an occasional shot with a hypodermic needle, men can learn how to handle ordinary allergies, but they never can build up immunity to irritations that destroy their spirit.

BOWLES TAKES POKE AT FARM WAGE PLAN

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 1—Stabilization Director Chester Bowles today declared the cost of living would jump six per cent or more under the farm parity formula passed by the senate.

The plan, which allows farm labor costs to be considered in figuring parity prices, was tacked to the minimum wage bill although a presidential veto is threatened. The bill still is pending in the senate.

Bowles said the amendment would shoot retail food prices up about 15 per cent and increase the average family's annual food budget around $125, besides forcing an increase of seven per cent in store prices of cotton garments. He called it sharply inflationary.

The estimates were contained in a letter to Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) dated March 14. Bowles released it today.

Whether to bring 3,500,000 more workers under the wage-hour act puzzled senators today as they returned to work on the veto-threatened minimum wage bill.

The 3,500,000 are employes of industries "affecting" interstate commerce. Their addition would bring about 23,500,000 of the nation's 40,000,000 workers in industry and agriculture under the law, the senate labor committee reported in recommending their inclusion.

Senator Hatch (D-NM) has moved to strike out the broadening section on the ground that there would be confusion over who goes in and who stays out. Senator Pepper (D-Fla) denied this, saying that similar language was used in the National Labor Relations act.

Hatch lodged his motion Friday a few minutes after the senate added an amendment to the minimum wage bill establishing a revised farm parity formula which would take into account the cost of agricultural labor.

The parity amendment went in by a vote of 43 to 31, although Majority Leader Barkley told the senate President Truman had notified him he would be "compelled" to veto the wage bill if it came to the White House with the parity provision.

Backers of the amendment say its enactment would only provide justice for the farmers who, they contend, are going to have to pay higher prices for their purchases as the result of industrial wage increases.

The bill provides for raising the current floor of 40 cents an hour to 65 and eventually to 75 cents Senators Ellender (D-La) and Ball (R-Minn) want to hold the initial jump to 55 cents, stepping up the minimum to 60 cents 18 months later.

Payne Hitch-Hikes Here for Talk, but Sound Truck Fails

Albert Edward Payne of Springfield, nylon distributing candidate for Republican nomination for governor, hitch-hiking his way in and out of Marion Saturday with scarcely anyone knowing he was here.

The Springfield industrialist, who was to speak from the court house steps at 3:30 p. m. Saturday arrived about 4 p. m. after making an appearance in Marysville. Because he was late getting away from Marysville he had sent his sound truck on ahead and had hitched-hiked his way here. After waiting until 5 p. m. for his sound truck to arrive, he hitch-hiked his way on to Delaware where he was scheduled to speak. Payne said his men had just put a new motor in his sound truck and he thought it must have broken down somewhere between Marysville and Marion.

The candidate had no nylons with him, but said if he became governor he would see Marion had plenty. He said he would try to make a later appearance in Marion if his schedule would permit.

OPA Chiefs Summoned in Black Market Quiz

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 1—Complaints of a widespread black market in meat led the senate agriculture committee to call top price and food officials to capitol hill today.

Price Administrator Paul Porter, Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson and Stabilization Director Chester Bowles were asked to come before the committee as witnesses.

Chairman Thomas (D-Okla) told reporters before the hearing that men in the packing industry had protested to him that black market channels were getting virtually all the meat.

"They blame OPA," he added.

"If that is the situation it is something congress should know about.

"And if OPA can't or won't do anything about it we will have to take meat out from under OPA."

RESEARCH DONE BY SCIENTISTS

Institute Staff Near Completion of Secret Work for Army and Navy.

By CONNIE KNAUBER
International News Writer

PHILADELPHIA—An aura of top-secret hush-hush pervaded the Franklin Institute today as a staff of scientists neared completion of laboratory research for the Army and Navy.

From the beginning of the war until now—seven months after Japan's surrender—The Philadelphia institution's master - minds have devoted all their work and research to the armed services.

What, specifically, have they accomplished? It's a military secret that not even the wiles of a Mata Hari could pry loose.

"Sure, we'd like to tell all," an Institute spokesman said, "but national security is national security. If the Army and Navy say we can't talk, we can't talk.

"Take, for example, the time we won the Navy's ordnance development award in December, 1945, for developing the pilot's universal sighting system," he continued.

"The Navy said we could announce just two things about the system—A—its name and —B—the fact that it was used in airplanes."

Peacetime Program

Any human who could deduce from these two facts what the pilot's universal sighting system was all about is a first rate nominee for 064.

The Institute recently announced that upon completion of its Army-Navy work, it would embark upon a "peacetime program of industrial research in the physical sciences."

But if the projects in this peacetime program were disclosed, the spokesman said, they might give some inkling as to the staff's war time work. So for the present, he said, the Institute's peacetime plans also will be cloaked in wartime secrecy.

Quite generally, the spokesman said, the wartime research included work on higher powered guns, sighting equipment, electronic instruments and "other ordnance materiel," which could mean anything from the atomic bomb to buckshot.

The Army publicly recognized the Institute's work in September 1944 when it handed it the ordnance distinguished service award for work done in the "development of weapons of higher power, increased precision and longer service life, as well as long time technical service in peacetime."

Scores of Requests

As for the peacetime program, it will concern electronics, machinery design and mechanical engineering. Already scores of letters have come in from firms and industries requesting that research be done along certain lines. Some of the requests have been refused outright. Others will be considered eventually.

The Institute's research and development laboratories, according to Dr. Henry Butler Allen, secretary and director, got off to a start in 1927, when Institute scientists investigated methods of building dry docks.

In 1936, the Federal Government's first research grant financed a study of steam boiler construction to determine measures for the safety of steamboat passengers.

Other early studies resulted in the standardization of thread patterns for nuts, bolts and screws. An Institute investigation of theater fire prevention brought about the universal use of asbestos curtains, clear aisles and outward opening doors.

OHIO'S ONE-MAN MAIL BOX GANG CAPTURED

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 1—Capture of a 31-year-old local man believed to have robbed 105 Columbus mail boxes since Jan. 15 was announced today by U. S. Postal Inspector V. F. X. Sands.

Sands said the man had confessed robbing as many as 30 boxes in one night. The night of March 25, he said, the man broke into the mail box directly across the street from the central police station.

Asserting he "stole mail by the bushel basket loads," the postal inspector said the specific total in stolen cash could not be determined but that he thought it would aggregate several thousand dollars.

afternoon, according to international AFL representative, James McGinnity.

The walkout began as scheduled at 4 a. m. (EST) although representatives of the Amalgamated Association of Street Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes of America and the Detroit street railway department met until 2 a. m. in an attempt to find a last minute solution for the union's demand.

A thunderstorm and heavy rains further hindered efforts to thousands of early shift workers to reach their offices and plants via the taxicab routes.

Union members, asking an 18 cent hourly raise, yesterday turned down the DSR's last-minute offer of a 15-cent boost. Some 2,000 operators who attended a mass meeting yesterday voted for the walkout, ignoring international union officers who urged postponement of action for a week.

U. S. TO BREAK ARMY IN CHINA ON MAY 1

By The Associated Press

SHANGHAI, April 1—Deactivation of the United States Army in the China theater May 1 was announced today by Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer upon instructions from the joint chiefs of staff in Washington.

This will leave 3,000 to 4,000 U. S. Army personnel in China to carry on with the military advisory group headed by General George C. Marshall and to serve on the cease fire truce teams and aid with repatriation and similar residual duties.

He said only 6,000 U. S. troops are in China now, though there were 65,000 at the wartime peak.

The 30,000 Marines under his command will revert to Navy control, Wedemeyer said. He did not indicate whether they might leave North China.

However, the Marines are being demobilized rapidly, Maj. Gen. Keller E. Rockey, commander of the Marines, told reporters in February that his troops were serving primarily as a stabilizing force.

Wedemeyer is scheduled to leave Thursday for the United States. He plans to undergo a sinus operation and presumably will confer with President Truman and other officials in Washington. He said he did not know whether he would return to China. Lt. Gen. Alvin C. Gillem Jr. will serve as U. S. commander on Wedemeyer's departure.

Wedemeyer assumed command of the China theater Oct. 28, 1944, succeeding General Joseph W. Stilwell.

HOOVER SEES FOOD CRISIS FOR FINLAND

By The Associated Press

HELSINKI, April 1 — Herbert Hoover, head of an American commission investigating European food conditions, told reporters today that Finland's food rations can be maintained at their present level until the end of June, but that thereafter there will be a shortage of 40,000 to 50,000 tons of grain until the end of September when the new harvest is reaped.

Hoover said 660,000 Finns—400,000 evacuees from land ceded Russia, small wage earners and Finns living in the area ravaged by the Germans—are in "urgent need of additional food."

Hoover, who arrived here yesterday by plane from Warsaw, said conditions in Poland were the worst he had seen thus far in Europe and that a study by American experts showed "over 2,000,000 children are terribly sub-normal from undernourishment."

Hoover flew today to Stockholm, where he is expected to see what additional help, if any, Sweden can give other countries. He is scheduled to see King Gustav tomorrow before flying to Oslo.

Most Marion Autoists Obtain New Licenses

Nearly all license tags expected to be issued by the auto license bureau were sold before the deadline today although 25 people were waiting for the office to open at 8 a. m. this morning. A total of 6,077 were sold during the period of sale prior to today's deadline.

Late sales are expected to bring the total near 7,000. Police and state highway patrolmen have instructions to arrest all persons driving cars carrying 1945 plates from today on. Even parked cars with old tags are to be off the streets, police officials say.

WOMAN INJURED IN MISHAP, CAR BURNS

Auto Overturns Near Green Camp; Marion Baby Hurt.

A Green Camp woman and a seven-months-old baby of Marion were injured in accidents over the week-end, state highway patrolmen report. Neither was seriously hurt.

Mrs. Mary M. Gosnell, 32, of Green Camp suffered bruises and cuts on her left foot and forehead when the car she was driving overturned and burned Saturday about 7:20 p. m. She told patrolmen she was approaching route 739 from route 203 near Green Camp when another car, which did not stop, made a turn directly in front of her. When she swerved her car to avoid a collision, it overturned. She was brought to Marion by a passing motorist and released after treatment by a local physician.

Margaret, the seven-months-old daughter of Mrs. Catherine C. Sipe, 43, of 136 East Mark street, suffered slight bruises on her head when the car which her mother was driving brushed with a car driven by Kenenth G. Beveridge, 35, of 286 Chicago avenue, two and one half miles west of Marion on route 30-S about 9 p. m. yesterday. The baby, who struck her head on the dashboard, was treated at a nearby farm house. Neither car was damaged.

RIBBENTROP REVEALS SECRET STALIN PACT

By The Associated Press

NUERNBERG, April 1—Joachim Von Ribbentrop, former Nazi foreign minister, testified before the international military tribunal today that Prime Minister Stalin agreed in Moscow in August, 1939, that he "would never accuse Germany of aggression because of her actions in Poland."

The agreement was that "if aggression were spoken of both parties would be guilty," Ribbentrop said.

The accord, Ribbentrop continued, was reached Aug. 21, 1939—less than two weeks before the Nazi march into Poland—in the course of negotiations for a Russian-German non-aggression pact and a secret protocol for partitioning Poland, Finland and the Baltic states.

The testimony was given after R. A. Rudenko, Soviet prosecutor, protested against admission of an affidavit by Friedrich Gaus, former Nazi foreign office negotiator, relating to the alleged secret protocol.

The Heavy Curse of Absolutism

READING the transcript of discussion in the United Nations Security Council meetings, one can see more clearly than before that the basic issue of international relations is between the absolute and the relative.

These are not, unfortunately, satisfactory words to describe the conflict, but they are the best available. They denote on the one hand an attitude which in politics gives rise to the doctrine of absolutism—unconditional power vested in an autocrat—and on the other hand gives rise to the doctrine which Americans sometimes express as "Live and let live."

Thus, the source of much conflict with Russian opinion and action is the creed that the Soviet Union and its ideology of Communism must be supreme, to the exclusion of all other rights both claimed and established. This creed is in contrast with an American belief that nations and ideologies can exist side by side in a world which makes allowance for differences of opinion.

The theory of the United Nations, as Americans understand it, is that differences of opinion can be reconciled and compromised. It has taken only a little experimentation, however, to reveal that the Russian government is not prepared to proceed on the same theory; that officially it is intolerant of any position that challenges Russian policy.

Absolutism is not confined, however, to international relations, and certainly is not the exclusive characteristic of Russian officialdom. It was the principal feature of Germany's attitude under Hitler, who preached that German rights were supreme and led his nation in a ruthless crusade to liquidate all opposition inside and outside its borders. It was the basic idea behind Japanese aggression. And it has been adopted by segments of our own population.

We need most of all to realize its implications in our own affairs. Absolutism is as foreign to the spirit of the American experiment with freedom as the doctrine of unlimited monarchy. We need desperately to see the danger that it might be allowed to corrupt the American ideal of tolerance.

WE NEED to understand the significance of work stoppages ordered by labor "czars" for purposes that are unrelated to the general welfare and maintained in a manner that denies the American doctrine of majority rule.

We need to be aware of the implications of "purges" in our political parties that could lead to party dictatorship and might even lead to the development of a one-party autocracy.

We need to be alert to the irreconcilable attitudes of minorities which arrogantly refuse to enter into any kind of a working relationship with other minorities for a common cause and we particularly need to be informed of the activities of minorities that preach and practice sedition under the protection of free speech.

Absolutism reached the bursting point and spattered the universe with its infection in the war years. It must be controlled, if it can be controlled, by development of immunity in the minds of all who understand the danger and are on guard against it. That is the great purpose of the United Nations in relations between governments. It is the purpose of the real liberals in the United States—in contrast to the bogus liberals who preach and practice various versions of despotism in the guise of liberalism. Absolutism and despotism are the same thing. Both deny the right of opposition. Neither recognizes the possibility that a question may have two answers, or that each in a dispute may be partly right and partly wrong.

The fight for human dignity has been a war against despots. It never ends. World War II shattered one of the most formidable plots of despotism ever conceived, but would-be despots are still busy in countless places, hoping for a fatal relaxation of the eternal vigilance which is the price men must pay for liberty.

UN or UNO?

THERE CAN be no doubt that the correct name of the thing most Americans have been calling UNO is UN, standing for United Nations.

The three-letter title, which stands for United Nations Organization, has no justification, being originally a device to make a distinction between the United Nations as they were in the war and the organization of the United Nations for cooperative security after the war. UNO, in other words, is the perpetuation of an accidental title that came into use when UN was one thing but UNO was another. As a matter of fact, the United Nations never were popularly referred to as UN, which is as awkward as that other two letter alphabetic title VA, for Veterans Administration.

The present move to correct the title to UN is picking up a following, but it will be a long time before the O will be dropped by all of us who have seized upon UNO as something that looks good in print and is easy to say, either as U-N-O, or as one word, Uno. The sticklers for correct form may as well admit that UNO is handy, even if it doesn't mean anything.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

Baruch Called in To Put Out Another Fire.

WASHINGTON, April 1—Whenever the Democrats get into great trouble, they call on Baruch, the elder. He was assigned the delicate task of keeping the atom bomb safe for democracy. Without offense to others, as chairman of the A-A commission. Again he was rushed up to the house banking committee to take the OPA and war powers control bill, about which congress is plainly dubious in the face of business clamor to keep off government restraints. But in his last assignment, Baruch utterly destroyed the fictions of the administration inflation policy—and the price structure is out of gear. Mistakes have been made, the Truman-Bowles bulge in the line against inflation was actually a break and a grave one—and laid down his own new program to harness inflation and get production.

No Chance of Adoption

The program will not be adopted. While Baruch has long served as a fireman for the administration, and has been called in to put out blazes getting beyond control, and generally gives wise advice—the administration never follows the advice. At the outset of the war, this clear-thinking and unprejudiced mind openly told Mr. Roosevelt how to prevent inflation by a real wage-price control, but the President punctured his control setup so that it became a sieve with the resultant prices of today and the unending wage disputes. Again Baruch submitted a report on reconversion just before the war end, and only one of his points was adopted—reconversion being left in its present state.

The official fireman, thus, has been unable to get his own fire extinguisher adopted in the past simply because the administration wanted to play political economics—wanted to get the votes of pressure groups—rather than to accomplish its announced objectives.

The new Baruch plan is suffering from the same trouble. A ban on strikes for a year seems impossible to attain because of opposition of the unions. Establishment of a high court of commerce to plan an economy fair to all groups is difficult because the pressure groups would try to pack it, as they have packed similar economic tribunals or pressured them into ineffectiveness. To dispel the sham contention that wage increases will not bring price increases would be contrary to what is considered a good political working formula by the administration in an election year.

Now the administration is already doing most of the other things Baruch recommended, but frequently in such a way as to defeat its own purposes. While it is doing his things, it is simultaneously doing other things at cross purposes which prevent it from getting results, or achieving announced goals. Its wage increase policy is, for instance, at cross purposes with its inflation and price policies, and its price-holding policy is being daily violated by allowances of indirect price increases.

Patch-work Program

So we seem to be inevitably embarked on a loose patch-work reconversion program from which we are not likely to escape. I judge, for instance, congress will enact a limited compromise renewal of the war powers and OPA, with amendments designed to correct the worst defects, but the correction of the defects will rest with the administrative branch. Congress cannot take hold and legislate a whole new program. Once the administration gets renewal of its powers, it no doubt will continue its chosen, current way.

This way will not be unsatisfactory to business, but will fail to establish any permanent solution of the labor problem or confidence for the economic future. My guess is some private assurances have already been made that the Bowles idea of limiting profits to pre-inflation levels, while inflating wages, will not be carried into effect. Indeed, price increases have been authorized daily for the past three weeks to get production, and I see the stock market is staggering to its feet after having been knocked flat by the first announcement of the new Truman-Bowles policy.

However, once we get production, most of our ills will evaporate, because competition can protect prices better than government, and if competition can be restored in the labor market, there will be fewer strikes.

Just a Minute

By Jack Tarver

BY THEIR DEMEANOR YOU SHALL KNOW THEM

The Army plans to clothe both officers and enlisted men in the same type outfits, thus bringing into actuality the punsters' dream—uniform uniforms.

After June 30, 1948, the only means of differentiating between the various ranks will be by their insignia and privileges.

Generals will wear stars; colonels, eagles; majors, oak leaves; captains and lieutenants, bars, and non-coms, stripes. As in the past, buck privates may be identified by the way they jump when someone shouts, "HEY, YOU!"

The war department hopes the accent will be on ability, now that clothes no longer make the officer.

This is but another step in the democratization of our armed forces. Before long second lieutenants may be elected by popular vote.

Heretofore, the captains have spoken only to majors, the colonels only to generals and MacArthur only to MacArthur.

Incidentally, the Army's new emphasis on clothes, fits in nicely with the current recruiting campaign. The suit and shirt shortage being what it is, many an ex-serviceman is re-enlisting rather than face a jail term for public indecency.

Radio "Hams" Back on Job

Renewed Activities Produce Worldwide Party Line.

GLOBAL conversation is becoming almost as common as daily chatter on rural party lines, reports from several American cities had indicated this week as post-war freedom of the ether continued producing hundreds of ambitious amateur radio operators known as "hams."

Once again they are as busy as a hill of ants contacting other hams in the far corners of the earth with several cities reporting interesting broadcasts to and from the Far East and Europe.

Boston recently reported conversations between the wife of a GI from her American home and her husband in Germany, while San Francisco had a mother-son conversation from the U. S. to China and Detroit reported another in which a father in that city talked to his son on the island of Guam.

Across the Pacific

San Francisco lists a large quota of hams and reports some of them contacting other hams as far away as Australia. One amateur operator in that city recently arranged for a conversation between Corp. John McNulty, who is stationed in Chungking, China, and his mother in San Francisco. Until that conversation she had not heard from him in two months.

Army sources in Nuernberg, Germany, recently reported that T. Sgt. Joseph C. Holzer of Indianapolis and Staff Sgt. Carmen T. Tona, of Buffalo, N. Y., after much scouting for parts to build a ham set, were rewarded with an early contact with Boston. The latter station, they reported, came in as though it were next door. Holzer said he once contacted a friend in Indiana and advised "Call my wife and say I'll be mailing a letter to her in 13 minutes."

The two GI's report that their set is somewhat international in character. It is made up of Italian, German, French, English and American transmitter parts. They had collected the parts after a patient search of the region and they believe their set is as makeshift as any ever put together.

Some Keep Cost Low

Hams in some American cities report that they are able to construct makeshift sets for as low as $25 while others build sets from new parts at a cost ranging from $50 up.

An operator's license and one for the station are required by the Federal Communications Commission for all hams. They must be competent in sending Morse code and know radio thoroughly. These requirements served the nation well in the war, since many of the hams were well equipped for army and navy radio service. They were off the air from December, 1941, until the end of the war, but current renewed interest in the field according to radio experts, presages boom years ahead.

New Toledo Plan

Toledo, which attracted national attention with its "Toledo Plan" for industrial peace before the war, has made a new move to improve labor-management relations.

Its city council recently approved an industrial relations charter creating an 18-man committee to undertake fact-finding and provide arbitration facilities.

Six principles are included in the charter to guide the committee. They are:

(1) Management acknowledges the right of employes to form labor organizations without interference and to bargain collectively.

(2) Labor recognizes the inherent right of management to direct the operations of the enterprise.

(3) Neither labor nor management will discriminate against any employe because of race or color.

(4) Management and labor agree that improvement in productive efficiency and technological advances result in lower costs and selling prices and wider markets.

(5) Labor and management realize that differences and disagreements should be minimized by joint discussion and by voluntary utilization of mediation, fact-finding and arbitration facilities made available through the labor-management-citizens committee.

(6) Labor and management agree that an educational program is desirable to promote a better understanding among workers, union officials, supervisors, foremen and managers.

Under the terms of the charter, the labor - management - citizens committee will be made up of six labor representatives, six management representatives and six representatives of the public. They will all be named to the committee by the mayor.

CLAWS AND EFFECT

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Wednesday, April 1, 1936.

Startling developments were threatened in the Lindbergh baby kidnaping case following the halting of the execution of Bruno Richard Hauptmann the previous night, after the Mercer county grand jury had asked postponement of the execution for 48 hours. The warden of the New Jersey penitentiary announced that the execution had been set for the following Friday night.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull told a house appropriations committee that the United States was leading the world against war through its trade, naval arms reduction and "good neighbor" policies.

"The Novel Princess," a romantic comedy, was presented by seniors of Harding High school at the Ohio theater with Miss Gwendolyn Mouser and Jack Markwith in the leading roles.

Mrs. C. R. Clapsaddle, 75, died at her home at 707 North Main street.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Sterling of 954 Westwood drive.

Mrs. E. H. Ward, Mrs. E. L. Trott and Mrs. A. J. Wagner were hostesses for a meeting of the Elks Women's club. Mrs. Jess Kleinmaier, Mrs. A. W. Cook and Mrs. R. E. Prettyman were winners in cards for the afternoon.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Thursday, April 1, 1926.

A terrific windstorm and blizzard which swept in from the midwest gave Marion and vicinity what was described as the most unusual "April fool joke" of recent years. There was a 26-degree drop in temperature and a snow fall of one and one-half inches. Telephone lines were torn down, roofs blow off two houses, trees damaged and automobile radiators frozen.

Dr. James W. McMurray, Marion county chairman of citizens' military training camp enrollment, announced that six applications had been received.

The Isaly dairy basketball team of Marion won the Central Ohio championship by defeating the Columbus Fountain Drugs in the final game of the tournament at Columbus, 35 to 25. Penry, with six field goals and Applegate with five were Marion's high scorers. Penry led the Isaly team scoring of the season with a total of 197 points. Applegate was next with 153.

Grant E. Mouser Jr., was installed as exalted ruler of Marion Lodge of Elks.

Jacob Bishop, 75, died at the home of his son, David Bishop, on North Greenwood street.

Reform Due in Congress

By Jack Stinnett

WASHINGTON—Something is going to be done about the streamlining of congress—something at least to the extent of introducing legislation.

Will that be as far as it goes?

Probably the first measure to reach the hopper since report of the LaFollette - Monroney joint committee on reorganization of congress will be that upping congressional salaries and providing for $8,000-a-year or so administrative assistants for each member.

The chances of this coming to a vote before the November elections are slim. The house members and those senators up for re-election want no more of that "Bundles for Congress" stuff. They are afraid of it in spite of the fact that almost everybody whose word counts for anything has agreed that members of congress need higher salaries and administrative assistants to take the load of detail off their shoulders.

Needs Overhauling

With a few exceptions on specific points, it's agreed by an overwhelming majority of experts on government and the members themselves that congress needs overhauling.

Then who will block these Congressional reforms? Who's opposed to them?

(1) Scores and scores of members of congress themselves. In many instances they will give up service to the whole program, but do everything in their power to block any tidal wave of reform.

Aside from those who want to go home to their voters and say they never, never voted themselves a salary increase, most would be ready and willing to get more money and more help in getting their complex jobs done. That is, they would if it weren't for fear of the voters this November or the weapons they will place in the hands of the men and women who are going to campaign against them.

(2) Committee members and committee chairmen in both chambers. The LaFollette-Monroney report suggests cutting the 33 Senate standing committees to 16; the 48 in the House to 18.

That means that 47 committee chairmen would lose their jobs, the prestige that goes with them and, in almost every instance, the privilege of hiring and paying committee "employes." Often, these committee employes work so little that they are nothing more than errand boys for the men who appoint them, but the jobs are juicy patronage posts.

There is some sincere opposition to consolidation of committees. Twenty-odd years ago, several House committees were consolidated into the House committee on appropriations. Opponents of committee reform argue that under the New Deal, the appropriations committee, dominated by the administration, went completely off the deep end in approving expenditures. They claim that several committees, occupied with appropriations in various fields, never could have been persuaded to give approval to what they feel was wholesale, wasteful spending.

Battle of Lobbies

It's a paradox, but if some recommendations of the LaFollette-Monroney committee are ever to become law, it will be as a result of a fight between pressure groups—lobbies.

Some lobbies have the greatest good for the greatest number at heart. One of these, for example, is the League of Women Voters, who profess to nothing more than getting out the vote and presenting a clear picture of most major issues.

There are a number of these better-government lobbies which will fight tooth and nail for the suggested reforms.

These and some other lobbies, like the National Association of Manufacturers, the American Legion and other veterans groups, the big labor union consolidations, and the major farm groups, operate completely in the open. They state their cases clearly before congressional committees or in the speeches of their officials, and let the chips fall where they may.

There are hundreds, and I do mean hundreds, of others that prance around in the congressional murk, convincing those who contribute to their upkeep and some members of congress that they wield tremendous power.

One proposal of the LaFollette-Monroney committee is that a law be passed to force these pressure groups to register and set forth their sources of income and expenditures.

Some Others Opposed

Some of the strictly legitimate lobbies don't like this idea either. Even if they don't have a thing to hide, they don't like prying into private matters. It's a new custom to which old Americans are unaccustomed.

For those lobbies that do have something to hide, such a law would mean sudden death, just as the foreign agent registration law became an instrument against spies and propagandists even before we got into World War II.

Consequently, many of the pressure groups are afraid of what will happen if the wave of congressional reform gets under way.

Many having established their pipelines, contacts and influences into various committees, don't want these disturbed. Thus these lobby representatives are all for leaving congressional confusion as it is. It's a fertile field now, they argue, why plow it under.

For the most part, lobbies are the pressure of minorities. If they had to register and make an affidavit to actual numerical membership, their claims might be reduced to the ridiculous.

Farewell to Beer

BEER is going to be so scarce this summer they may serve it in ounce glasses and demand a letter of introduction.

It will be almost as hard to get as durable habitation. And not any easier to drink.

* * *

In fact, some pessimists are predicting a Fourth of July it will cost you ten cents to hear "The Stein Song" from a juke box.

* * *

There may even be Beerless Tuesdays.

* * *

And we have already heard of a black market fellow who insists that to get a case of beer a customer will agree to take four cans of pretzels, two pounds of cheese and a box of cigars.

* * *

The latest type of hoarder is the Beer Hoarder. "Come on down into the cellar and see my collection of lager" is already being heard in many homes.

* * *

And it is extremely probable that before the year is out the ordinary wagon may give way to the armored truck.

* * *

It's all because of the grain that must be saved and sent to relieve the hungry in Europe. Nobody can complain when a thirst is sacrificed to such a noble cause.

* * *

But it is going to ruin the Elks picnic, the City Hall outing and the ball games between single and married men at Mulligan's Grove.

* * *

And we predict that it will do more to arouse the general public to a hatred of war than anything so far. A beer drinker is a beer drinker and he has never thought he was asking much from life.

* * *

The free lunch went years ago, there's a tax on crackers, the loaf of bread has been cut 50 per cent, cheese is none too plentiful, the cold tender with a smile is obsolete, rushing the growler has been frowned on for the last few years and a man can't go to the movies and find anybody to argue over the baseball situation.

* * *

It seems to us that life is going to seem a drab for a while to the fellow who didn't go for the hard stuff and whose only plea was "Put a head on it, Steve!"

CALL FOR MERCY

This department thinks it is about time the race horses of America staged some sort of a strike. And against the names that are being pinned on them. It used to be the rule to call a horse with a name that suggested something like affection. Most names gave you the idea they were picked by people who loved horses, or at least didn't dislike them much. But look at the names they are slapping on the newcomers these days . . . Milkwagonjoe' . . . Big Ha' . . . The Fakir' . . . Rusty Hash' . . . Soapsuds' . . . Tar Lightly' . . . Droop Snoop' . . . Pea Soup!

* * *

And these are only a few of the least revolting ones. We await the entry any day of Bag of Bones, The Drip, Justaboum and Gas Factorygertie.

The delegates to the UNO Security Council eat at a cafeteria on the premises and what we can't help wondering is whether Hussien of the Iranian delegate, is even granted the right to eat.

Caught just behind the Polish delegate and directly in front of Mr. Gromyko in the line at the cafeteria, the Iranian visitor would be in a tough spot.

We understand the laugh of the week at the UNO cafeteria came when a steam-table waitress, having a little trouble ascertaining what was wanted by one of the most versatile interpreters at the session demanded, "Gee, can't you understand anything at all?"

Shudda Haddim played a UNO hunch in the three-horse parlay and cleaned up. The horses were Crisis, Worries and Hard War which won at $8, $68 and $9.60. And he could have included Harpischord which clicked at $17.10.

Allergies

By Truman Twill

So far the specialists have only scratched the skin of the allergy proposition. They can discover that the victim reacts unfavorably to cat fur, uncooked tomatoes, water lily pollen, peach fuzz, measuring worms, egg yolks, house dust, ragweed, golden rod, roses, shrimp and ostrich feathers, but nothing is being done about the more serious allergies that produce red welts and angry eruptions on the morale.

These include such causes of human unhappiness as mezzo sopranos who screech over the radio, automobile horn tooters, ignorant mothers who yank little kids about in public places, boors who smoke smelly cigars on buses, and juveniles just learning to swear and fascinated by the loud noise of their dirty words.

When specialists are looking for the cause behind loss of weight, nervous exhaustion and lack of vitality, let them look into the effect of public servants who abuse their positions of trust by slandering their employers, young men with hair that is too long and pants that are too short, the antics of the OPA and the conduct of a handful of labor leaders that the United States is a cow to be milked into their pails.

Along with strict diets to keep victims of hay-fever allergies from having sneezing fits and nausea, the specialists should dope out some way to protect others from worry about the shrinking dollar and the expanding deficit of people trying to keep abreast of inflation; from worry that a gang of fuddy-duddy diplomats and former ward heelers may blunder their country into World War III; and from worry about the 24-hour-a-day effort to plant the absolutist formula that things must be done my way or else you're dead.

Let the allergy hunters snoop into such things about human beings ready to throw in the sponge because they haven't built up immunity to chiseling, falsehood, studied discourtesy, double-dealing, indifference to suffering, and misrepresentation under the flimsy excuse that the customer who isn't ready to fight for a square deal deserves to be played for a sucker.

Let them look into the red welts on the dignity being raised by the poison of propaganda and the old-new proposition that an individual has no rights which can't be trampled down by whatever organization stakes out a claim first.

These, not egg yolks and uncooked tomatoes, are the things giving millions of people that slack-jawed, glassy-eyed appearance. With practice and an occasional shot with a hypodermic needle, men can learn how to handle ordinary allergies, but they never can build up immunity to irritations that destroy their spirit.

When Julius Caesar invaded Britain, a pig of iron bar about 11 ounces was the "pound sterling" of the era.

BOWLES TAKES POKE AT FARM WAGE PLAN

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 1—Stabilization Director Chester Bowles today declared the cost of living would jump six per cent or more under the farm parity formula passed by the senate.

The plan, which allows farm labor costs to be considered in figuring parity prices, was tacked to the minimum wage bill although a presidential veto is threatened. The bill still is pending in the senate.

Bowles said the amendment would shoot retail food prices up about 15 per cent and increase the average family's annual food budget around $125, besides forcing an increase of seven per cent in store prices of cotton garments. He called it sharply inflationary.

The estimates were contained in a letter to Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) dated March 14. Bowles released it today.

Whether to bring 3,500,000 more workers under the wage-hour act puzzled senators today as they returned to work on the veto-threatened minimum wage bill.

The 3,500,000 are employes of industries "affecting" interstate commerce. Their addition would bring about 23,500,000 of the nation's 40,000,000 workers in industry and agriculture under the law, the senate labor committee reported in recommending their inclusion.

Senator Hatch (D-NM) has moved to strike out the broadening section on the ground that there would be confusion over who goes in and who stays out. Senator Pepper (D-Fla) denied this, saying that similar language was used in the National Labor Relations act.

Hatch lodged his motion Friday a few minutes after the senate added an amendment to the minimum wage bill establishing a revised farm parity formula which would take into account the cost of agricultural labor.

The parity amendment went in by a vote of 43 to 31, although Majority Leader Barkley told the senate President Truman had notified him he would be "compelled" to veto the wage bill if it came to the White House with the parity provision.

Backers of the amendment say its enactment would only provide justice for the farmers who, they contend, are going to have to pay higher prices for their purchases as the result of industrial wage increases.

The bill provides for raising the current floor of 40 cents an hour to 65 and eventually to 75 cents Senators Ellender (D-La) and Bail (R-Minn) want to hold the initial jump to 55 cents, stepping up the minimum to 60 cents 18 months later.

Payne Hitch-Hikes Here for Talk, but Sound Truck Fails

Albert Edward Payne of Springfield, nylon distributing candidate for Republican nomination for governor, hitch-hiking his way in and out of Marion Saturday with scarcely anyone knowing he was here.

The Springfield industrialist, who was to speak from the court house steps at 3:30 p. m. Saturday arrived about 4 p. m. after making an appearance in Marysville. Because he was late getting away from Marysville he had sent his sound truck on ahead and had hitched-hiked his way here. After waiting until 5 p. m. for his sound truck to arrive, he hitch-hiked his way on to Delaware where he was scheduled to speak. Payne said his men had just put a new motor in his sound truck and he thought it must have broken down somewhere between Marysville and Marion.

The candidate had no nylons with him, but said if he became governor he would see Marion had plenty. He said he would try to make a later appearance in Marion if his schedule would permit.

OPA Chiefs Summoned in Black Market Quiz

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 1—Complaints of a widespread black market in meat led the senate agriculture committee to call top price and food officials to capitol hill today.

Price Administrator Paul Porter, Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson and Stabilization Director Chester Bowles were asked to come before the committee as witnesses.

Chairman Thomas (D-Okla) told reporters before the hearing that men in the packing industry had protested to him that black market channels were getting virtually all the meat.

"They blame OPA," he added.

"If that is the situation it is something congress should know about.

"And if OPA can't or won't do anything about it we will have to take meat out from under OPA."

RESEARCH DONE BY SCIENTISTS

Institute Staff Near Completion of Secret Work for Army and Navy.

By CONNIE KNAUBER
International News Writer

PHILADELPHIA—An aura of top-secret hush-hush pervaded the Franklin Institute today as a staff of scientists neared completion of laboratory research for the Army and Navy.

From the beginning of the war until now—seven months after Japan's surrender—The Philadelphia institution's master - minds have devoted all their work and research to the armed services.

What, specifically, have they accomplished? It's a military secret that not even the wiles of a Mata Hari could pry loose.

"Sure, we'd like to tell all," an Institute spokesman said, "but national security is national security. If the Army and Navy say we can't talk, we can't talk.

"Take, for example, the time we won the Navy's ordnance development award in December, 1945, for developing the pilot's universal sighting system," he continued.

"The Navy said we could announce just two things about the system—A—its name and —B—the fact that it was used in airplanes."

Peacetime Program

Any human who could deduce from these two facts what the pilot's universal sighting system was all about is a first rate nominee for 064.

The Institute recently announced that upon completion of its Army-Navy work, it would embark upon a "peacetime program of industrial research in the physical sciences."

But if the projects in this peacetime program were disclosed, the spokesman said, they might give some inkling as to the staff's war time work. So for the present, he said, the Institute's peacetime plans also will be cloaked in wartime secrecy.

Quite generally, the spokesman said, the wartime research included work on higher powered guns, sighting equipment, electronic instruments and "other ordnance materiel," which could mean anything from the atomic bomb to buckshot.

The Army publicly recognized the Institute's work in September 1944 when it handed it the ordnance distinguished service award for work done in the "development of weapons of higher power, increased precision and longer service life, as well as long time technical service in peacetime."

Scores of Requests

As for the peacetime program, it will concern electronics, machinery design and mechanical engineering. Already scores of letters have come in from firms and industries requesting that research be done along certain lines. Some of the requests have been refused outright. Others will be considered eventually.

The Institute's research and development laboratories, according to Dr. Henry Butler Allen, secretary and director, got off to a start in 1927, when Institute scientists investigated methods of building dry docks.

In 1936, the Federal Government's first research grant financed a study of steam boiler construction to determine measures for the safety of steamboat passengers.

Other early studies resulted in the standardization of thread patterns for nuts, bolts and screws. An Institute investigation of theater fire prevention brought about the universal use of asbestos curtains, clear aisles and outward opening doors.

OHIO'S ONE-MAN MAIL BOX GANG CAPTURED

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 1—Capture of a 31-year-old local man believed to have robbed 105 Columbus mail boxes since Jan. 15 was announced today by U. S. Postal Inspector V. F. X. Sands.

Sands said the man had confessed robbing as many as 30 boxes in one night. The night of March 25, he said, the man broke into the mail box directly across the street from the central police station.

Asserting he "stole mail by the bushel basket loads," the postal inspector said the specific total in stolen cash could not be determined but that he thought it would aggregate several thousand dollars.

afternoon, according to international AFL representative, James McGinnity.

The walkout began as scheduled at 4 a. m. (EST) although representatives of the Amalgamated Association of Street Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes of America and the Detroit street railway department met until 2 a. m. in an attempt to find a last minute solution for the union's demand.

A thunderstorm and heavy rains further hindered efforts to thousands of early shift workers to reach their offices and plants via the taxicab routes.

Union members, asking an 18 cent hourly raise, yesterday turned down the DSR's last-minute offer of a 15-cent boost. Some 2,000 operators who attended a mass meeting yesterday voted for the walkout, ignoring international union officers who urged postponement of action for a week.

Champ Logger of Tennessee

They call Mabel Perry of Sugar Hill, Tenn., a champion log-cutter—better even than her husband Eugene, who's no slouch.

Full-time loggers, they contract to cut trees in a section, find a nearby roof to shelter them, work the timber for a year or two and then move on.

Once Mabel got a job in a factory but, she said, "the work was too hard."

When asked what she and her husband did for recreation she replied, "nothing much. Sometimes we have a race to see which one can get a tree down first. Most times I win."

U. S. TO BREAK ARMY IN CHINA ON MAY 1

By The Associated Press

SHANGHAI, April 1—Deactivation of the United States Army in the China theater May 1 was announced today by Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer upon instructions from the joint chiefs of staff in Washington.

This will leave 3,000 to 4,000 U. S. Army personnel in China to carry on with the military advisory group headed by General George C. Marshall and to serve on the cease fire truce teams and aid with repatriation and similar residual duties.

He said only 6,000 U. S. troops are in China now, though there were 65,000 at the wartime peak.

The 30,000 Marines under his command will revert to Navy control, Wedemeyer said. He did not indicate whether they might leave North China.

However, the Marines are being demobilized rapidly, Maj. Gen. Keller E. Rockey, commander of the Marines, told reporters in February that his troops were serving primarily as a stabilizing force.

Wedemeyer is scheduled to leave Thursday for the United States. He plans to undergo a sinus operation and presumably will confer with President Truman and other officials in Washington. He said he did not know whether he would return to China. Lt. Gen. Alvin C. Gillem Jr. will serve as U. S. commander on Wedemeyer's departure.

Wedemeyer assumed command of the China theater Oct. 28, 1944, succeeding General Joseph W. Stilwell.

HOOVER SEES FOOD CRISIS FOR FINLAND

By The Associated Press

HELSINKI, April 1 — Herbert Hoover, head of an American commission investigating European food conditions, told reporters today that Finland's food rations can be maintained at their present level until the end of June, but that thereafter there will be a shortage of 40,000 to 50,000 tons of grain until the end of September when the new harvest is reaped.

Hoover said 800,000 Finns—400,000 evacuees from land ceded Russia, small wage earners and Finns living in the area ravaged by the Germans—are in "urgent need of additional food."

Hoover, who arrived here yesterday by plane from Warsaw, said conditions in Poland were the worst he had seen thus far in Europe and that a study by American experts showed "over 2,000,000 children are terribly subnormal from undernourishment."

Hoover flew today to Stockholm, where he is expected to see what additional help, if any, Sweden can give other countries. He is scheduled to see King Gustav tomorrow before flying to Oslo.

WOMAN INJURED IN MISHAP, CAR BURNS

Auto Overturns Near Green Camp; Marion Baby Hurt.

A Green Camp woman and a seven-months-old baby of Marion were injured in accidents over the week-end, state highway patrolmen report. Neither was seriously hurt.

Mrs. Mary M. Geanell, 32, of Green Camp suffered bruises and cuts on her left foot and forehead when the car she was driving overturned and burned Saturday about 7:20 p. m. She told patrolmen she was approaching route 739 from route 208 near Green Camp when another car, which did not stop, made a turn directly in front of her. When she swerved her car to avoid a collision, it overturned. She was brought to Marion by a passing motorist and released after treatment by a local physician.

Margaret, the seven-months-old daughter of Mrs. Catherine C. Sipe, 43, of 136 East Mark street, suffered slight bruises on her head when the car which her mother was driving brushed with a car driven by Kenneth G. Beveridge, 35, of 260 Chicago avenue, two and one half miles west of Marion on route 30-S about 9 p. m. yesterday. The baby, who struck her head on the dashboard, was treated at a nearby farm house. Neither car was damaged.

RIBBENTROP REVEALS SECRET STALIN PACT

By The Associated Press

NUERNBERG, April 1—Joachim Von Ribbentrop, former Nazi foreign minister, testified before the international military tribunal today that Prime Minister Stalin agreed in Moscow in August, 1939, that he "would never accuse Germany of aggression because of her actions in Poland."

The agreement was that "if aggression were spoken of both parties would be guilty," Ribbentrop said.

The accord, Ribbentrop continued, was reached Aug. 21, 1939—less than two weeks before the Nazi march into Poland—in the course of negotiations for a Russian-German non-aggression pact and a secret protocol for partitioning Poland, Finland and the Baltic states.

The testimony was given after R. A. Rudenko, Soviet prosecutor, protested against admission of an affidavit by Friedrich Gaus, former Nazi foreign office negotiator, relating to the alleged secret protocol.
